JOBS TREND IS UP

First Decline In Unemployment In 5 Months Reported

NEW YORK—(AP)—The magazine "Sales Management" today predicted that the dollar volume of retail sales in April would top April last year by 3 per cent. The trade publication figured this April's total at $10,985,000,000.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The government today reported the first drop in unemployment in five months.

The number of people out of work and hunting jobs declined 54,000 from February to March after rising steadily in each of the previous four months.

At the same time the number of people at work—both in factories and on farms—rose 479,000. This checked a two-month decline in employment.

The census bureau in reporting this today explained that the total civil labor force—that is, people at work or hunting work—increased from 60,388,000 in February to 60,814,000 in March.

Seasonal Expansion.

The gains in the number of jobholders and the decline in joblessness were explained by the bureau in these words:

"A seasonal expansion in employment in agriculture and some other industries apparently counterbalanced the effect of further layoffs in other sectors of the economy."

Shortly before the bureau issued the report, Secretary of Commerce Sawyer gave the figures to President Truman and the cabinet at a White House meeting.

Sawyer told reporters later it looks to him as if the uptrend in unemployment has been "stopped." He said also it is encouraging that there had been no "further drop in employment, but an actual increase in employment."

57,647,000 Employed.

The 54,000 decline in unemployment from February's postwar peak left the total number of people out of work and hunting jobs at 3,167,000 — still 727,000 higher than at this time last year.

The number employed totaled 57,647,000. While up 479,000 from February, it was only 318,000 above March, 1948.

Farm employment rose 400,000 to a 7,393,000 total in March, and the number of those on non-farm jobs went up nearly 80,000 to 50,254,000.

Compared with this time last year, farm employment was higher by 546,000, but non-farming employment was down 178,000.

Pick-Sloan Program Is "Reality"

Declares Prentiss: $134,000,000 For Contracts In Force

Development of the Missouri basin according to the Pick-Sloan plan is already a reality, not a proposal, Col. Louis W. Prentiss told the Midwest Rural Life and Education conference Friday morning at the University of Nebraska.

The conference, interested in the future of small communities directed its attention to Missouri basin development as one tremendous influence on midwest community life.

Colonel Prentiss, district engineer with the corps of engineers at Omaha, reported construction contracts totaling $134,000,000 are now in force for projects involved in the development.

"Beyond Proposal Stage."

"You hear some mention of the Pick-Sloan plan as a 'proposed plan.' Actually, it is far beyond the stage of mere proposal," the colonel said. "The first funds were appropriated by congress for construction work in the spring of 1946."

Basically, the Missouri basin plan, Colonel Prentiss reported, provides for construction of 105 storage reservoirs on the Missouri and its principal tributaries. It also authorizes an agricultural levee system on both sides of the main river from Sioux City to the mouth, plus local municipal flood protection works.

"The total storage in these reservoirs will exceed 100,000,000 acre-feet. This is the equivalent of water one foot deep covering 100,000,000 acres," he explained.

Colonel Prentiss gave the following summary of principal basin construction work.

1. Garrison dam, Missouri river, in North Dakota, construction in third year and slated for completion in 1954.

2. Fort Randall dam, South Dakota, in third year of construction and slated for completion in 1953.

3. Harlan county dam, Republican river, in third construction year, and scheduled for completion in 1951.

4. Cherry creek flood control dam near Denver, contract let and completion scheduled for next year.

In addition, Colonel Prentiss pointed out, "initial contracts were let last fall for a start on the big Oahe dam near Pierre, S. D., another Missouri river project, and last May we completed and dedicated the Kanopolis dam on the Smoky Hill river in Kansas. It has already prevented several destructive floods."

He said that levee and floodwall construction schedules "are moving along" and "we have over 100 miles of agricultural levees under construction or under contract to be built and more units will be let this year."

Friday evening the Midwest conference delegates, representing eight states in this area, will hear former Nebraska Governor Dwight Griswold speak on "And Education Europe." Griswold served as chief of the American mission for aid to Greece, and as direction of the division of internal affairs in Germany. His assignment in Germany included direction of educational affairs.

Death Toll In Spring Snowstorm Reaches 4

Two Atkinson Brothers Found In Field: Communications Hit In Storm Center

Two Atkinson ranchers Friday were added to Nebraska's freak spring snowstorm death toll, bringing the total to four.

The bodies of the two brothers, Adam Dohman, about 68, and Paul Dohman, about 66, were found in a field near their ranch Thursday. Acting Coroner Francis Lee said their deaths appeared to have been caused by overexertion and exposure.

News of the deaths was relayed to the Associated Press by an amateur radio operator who picked up the report from AP Correspondent Rev. W. C. Birmingham at Atkinson.

Found Near Haystack.

Mrs. Adam Dohman sadi her husband and his unmarried brother had gone out Wednesday afternoon to look after some calves in the pasture. When their dog returned alone, she called a neighbor, Leo Heinowski, who found the the bodies near a hay stack about a half mile from the house.

The coroner said the bodies were found with gunny sacking over the faces. The men had tied the sacking on before leaving home.

Earlier this week, two Californians were killed near Brady in a traffic accident blamed in part on weather and road conditions.

Meanwhile clear weather covered the state today, helping to erase traces of the snow, which fell as deep as 23 inches at Hayes Center. But forecasters said some more fairly heavy precipitation, mostly as rain, is in the offing.

Mudbound Conditions.

The April showers are expected to aggravate mudbound conditions in northeast Nebraska and will bring additional uneasiness to residents along streams and rivers currently flirting with flood stages.

While telephone and telegraph connections with Atkinson were still out Friday, the town had electric power again Thursday night after a shutoff of 29 hours.

Pilot Earl Coxbill flew over the power line and discovered a break two miles south of Atkinson. The break was repaired in a short time.

According to Northwestern Bell Telephone company, the Atkinson communication break was only one of many. The company Thursday night reported 20 towns in Nebraska and 32 in South Dakota without long distance telephone lines. There were 500 broken telephone poles, the firm said.

Northwestern Bell doubled the size of repair crews in the storm area sending 100 repairmen to

G. I. Taxicab Firm Need Not Bargain

But Must Reinstate Locked-Out Employes, Industrial Court Holds

The state Court of Industrial Relations Friday denied the request of local No. 784, Truck Drivers and Helpers union (AFL) for an order requiring two Grand Island cab companies to bargain collectively with the union.

At the same time the court ordered the Yellow Cab company and City Cab and Transit company to re-instate six union employes involved in the case.

The court denied re-instatement of 14 other employes—12 of whom left their jobs for a brief period March 13 to protest dismissal of the other two.

'Lock Out.'

The court ardered re-instatement of Raymond Bruner, Walter Steffan, Leon Dubas, Walter Rouse, James Carmichael and Doris M. Despins. The court held the actions of the companies against the six constituted a "lock out."

In denying the union's request for an order to require the companies to bargain collectively with it, the court said:

"The plaintiff (union) and the employes represented by it are not entitled at this time to an order or judgment directing the commencement of collective bargaining."

The court added that on the basis of evidence submitted in the case, the union and employes represented by it "are not at this time entitled to an order of judgment fixing wages of employes or in relation to the terms and conditions of their employment."

In its original petition the union alleged that two employes—Eugene Maw and Michael C. John—were discharged because of union activity and that other union employes left their jobs for a brief period in protest.

When the group returned they found they were "locked out," the union contended.

$500 Willed To Havelock Church By Mintie Schmidt

The will of Mintie Schmidt, who was killed in a two-car accident March 29, names two of his brothers, Conrad Schmidt and Louie Schmidt, as residuary legatees. The document was filed for probate in County court Friday.

Receiving bequests of $200 each are three other brothers and three sisters: Otto Schmidt, Julius Schmidt, John Schmidt, Ida Soukup, Anna Gross and Louise Morgan. Dora Everhardt, sister, is bequeathed $1 and cancellation of a $200 promissory note. Nieces and nephews of the deceased are bequeathed $100 each. The Havelock Methodist church is given $500.

The will, dated Sept. 28, 1944, names Richard O. Johnson and C. Bykerk as executors. They have also been appointed special administrators by County Judge Harry A. Spencer.

EX-ACTRESS SUFFOCATES DURING FIRE

HOLLYWOOD—(INS) — Faith Hampton, veteran screen actress, and her husband, Don Short, suffocated today when fire broke out in their tiny Hollywood one-room garage apartment.

The fire was discovered shortly after 6 a. m. by a newsboy, David Smith, 11, who saw smoke billowing from the apartment and notified neighbors, who in turn called the fire department.

The couple, both about 40, was dead when firemen reached them.

Authorities said a lighted cigaret apparently touched off the blaze.

Police said a number of empty whisky bottles found in the place indicated the couple had been drinking.

"No Quick" Rent Control Ruling Here

Governor Says After Receiving Request To Decontrol State

Governor Val Peterson said Friday he was not yet ready to make any statement on the "home rule" rent control bill recently passed by congress and signed by President Truman.

He said he had wired to Washington for a copy of the measure, and that he would reserve comment and action until he had studied thoroughly the provisions of the bill.

In regard to a resolution sent to him by representatives of real estate businessmen Thursday, the governor said he had not yet read the resolution, so could not make any comment. The resolution urged the immediate end of federal rent control in Nebraska.

Realtors Make Plea.

Groups represented at the meeting where the resolution was adopted included the Nebraska Real Estate association, the Lincoln Apartment House Owners association and the Omaha Building Owners and Managers association.

The resolution also asked that "rent increases on property now under control be prohibited for six months after the decontrols become effective."

Requesting that "immediate consideration be given in justice and fairness to all parties" in lifting the controls, the resolution stated that economic, legal and moral reasons for imposition of such controls in Nebraska have ceased to exist.

TAXICAB DRIVERS STRIKE

N. Y. Cabbies Are Idle; Other Transportation Workers Vote To Quit

(By the Associated Press)

New strikes were in effect or authorized today against segments of nearly all forms of transportation.

Taxicab drivers left their jobs in a citywide strike in New York City. Radio officers of Pan-American World Airways went on strike. The Canadian Seamen's union called a walkout against Canada's east coast shipowners, and the Order of Railway Conductors authorized a strike of their union against the Chicago and North Western railroad.

Another strike of bus drivers and mechanics against the Akron, O., transportation company was short-lived. It ended after a few hours with acceptance by the CIO Transport Workers union of a 7 cents an hour wage boost. The 600 workers originally had asked an increase of 30 cents an hour.

Miners Take A Breather.

About 400,000 members of the United Mine Workers remained off their jobs today in observance of John Mitchell day. Most of them were expected to remain idle until Monday. Mitchell was one of the union's early leaders.

On other labor fronts, the government proposed arbitration of a wage dispute between 50,000 clerks and the Railway Express agency; the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen approved a merger plan; and the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters began a nationwide checkup on union membership of truck drivers.

A strike of 7,000 workers against 14 breweries in the New York metropolitan area also began today.

Want 35-Hour Week.

The CIO International Brewery and Distilery Workers of America had asked a wage boost of $8.50 a week, a reduction of the work week from 40 to 35 hours, and job security and plant safety conditions. The present wage scale is $71 a week.

The New York strike of 36,000 taxicab in support of demands for union recognidrivers, mechanics and other workers was tion, wage increases, a closed shop and other benefits.

A union spokesman said the radio officers' strike would stop world-wide operations of Pan-American World Airways. The 240 officers struck after negotiations failed to settle a dispute over assignments to new strato-cruiser planes.

The railroad termed the strike action "unwarranted."

Protest By Moscow Termed Propaganda

. . . Foreign Ministers Gather For Historic Signing

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A top state department official suggested today that the Russians need not worry about the North Atlantic treaty; all they have to do is not attack any member nation.

This official, who declined to be identified by name, reasserted the American government's position that the treaty is purely defensive. He said that any nation which has any doubts about it can fully protect itself by refraining from attack on any of the member countries.

This informal reaction to Russia's protest against the alliance came as plans went ahead for the formal signing of the treaty on Monday. It was clear that the new Soviet blast was not disturbing those plans in any way.

Protest Studied.

The Soviet protest, delivered late yesterday, was translated at the state department only this morning. It is still under consideration.

The department, therefore, was hesitant to take any formal position on it until it had been thoroughly studied by Secretary of State Acheson and other top authorities.

Among those determining the state department's final attitude on it is Acheson's top adviser on Russian policy, state department Counselor Charles E. Bohlen.

The state department spokesman declared that the obvious purpose of the Russian note is to have an effect on world public opinion. He said that was shown by the fact that the note was published by Moscow as soon as it had been delivered in the capitals of the Atlantic power countries.

Formal Rejection Possible.

The spokesman made it entirely clear that the United States government considers the note to be without any foundation in fact and may formally reject it.

If the decision is made not to send a formal reply to the Russian government, then the Soviet arguments—none of which is actually new—will be countered in public statements of top officials.

The state department's basic position is that the Atlantic treaty is strictly defensive; that its action article—by which all the powers agree to resist an attack on any one of them—would never become operative unless the attack occurred.

The basic Russian position was set forth in a foreign office white paper issued at Moscow Jan. 28 which denounced the then secret draft of the pact as aggressive.

Same Arguments.

Officials here said that the Russian note set forth officially the same arguments which the Russian white paper had made on Jan. 28. They said the Soviets therefore had not been in the slightest influenced by the facts revealed when the treaty text was published by instead had pre-judged all issues.

Foreign ministers were gathering to sign the historic treaty on Monday. One of the new arrivals, Belgium's Paul Henri Spaak, told reporters that Russia's new note will not stop him from signing for his country.

Spaak denied Russia's charges that the alliance is aggressive. He said that to him "the most important thing i nthe (Soviet) note" is the statement that Russia has no aggressive aims.

The diplomats here pushed ahead at full speed on plans for unifying the noncommunist west to build up its total military and economic power against any possible Soviet aggression.

School Land Sale Bill Sidetracked

Opponents Prepare New Measure To Correct Lease Abuses

After more than an hour of debate Friday on the motion of Sen. Ray Babcock to kill LB 474, which provides for the sale of school lands, freshmen members of the legislature took command and switched consideration on a new track.

Action on the bill was laid over until April 15. By that time Sen. Babcock will attempt to offer a new bill which will correct abuses in school land leasing which will correct abuses in school land leasing which he admitted exists. Babcock is chairman of the banking committee and two members offered to co-operate.

The committee on education is also expected before that time to report out another bill dealing with school lands with amendments which they believe will correct abuses. Sens. Clyde Cretsinger and Otto Prohs, introducers of the bill for sale of the land, are members of the education committee.

Question Sale.

Sens. Thomas Davies and Willard Wilson, opposed immediate killing of the bill and depending on the legislature to correct abuses, later. This was suggested by Sen. Babcock. They also questioned whether sale of the land was the answer sought.

Shifting of the burden to provide an answer for abuses before taking action found the new senators united. They were backed by Sens. Metzger and Carmody.

"Blood flowed down the aisle a foot deep last session when changes were attempted," Sen. Metzger said. "Changes that were made were over the objection of lease holders," he explained. He urged keeping the present bill until another solution is offered.

Sen. Carmody then offered the solution which seemed to meet with approval of the new senators and an acceptable substitute by those advocating sale. Sen. Babcock hesitated in giving an aswer when questioned on the proposal.

Two Point Program.

A two point program was suggested by Sen. Carmody.

1. Leases could be made only to actual operators.

2. Land would be reappraised annually to meet fluctuations in crop values.

Suggestions were also made that

Conviction Of Ben Dolen Is Reversed

For Second Time By Supreme Court

For the second time Ben Dolen, Lincoln, obtained a reversal Friday in Supreme court from Lancaster county District court conviction on a charge of receiving stolen property.

The high court voided the two year penitentiary sentence given Dolen by District Judge John L. Polk and remanded the case for further proceedings.

Since his conviction, Dolen has been at liberty on an appeal bond.

Didn't Know Property Stolen.

The court this time held that it was a reversible error to use testimony of a witness in a former testimony of a witness in a former available for examination. Previously it had reversed conviction on the grounds the trial court "abused his official discretion" in not allowing counsel time to obtain absent witnesses.

According to the records of the Supreme court, a Lincoln liquor store was robbed in February 1946 by two men later identified as Lew Wilson and Rollin Curtiss and the merchandise taken and stored in a West Lincoln house which Dolen leased.

The lessee, according to the records, consented to the storage and later arranged to buy the property, but not knowing that the property was stolen.

Both Wilson and Curtiss were later convicted of burglary and sentenced to the penitentiary.

A Lenten Season Prayer

THE STEWARDSHIP OF ALL LIFE

And the disciples, every man according to his ability, determined to send relief unto the brethren that dwelt in Judea. Acts 11:29. Read Matthew 25:14-30.

The Christian community in all lands and times has set the example of generosity, ministering to the needs of saints and sinners and thus rebuking the natural possessiveness of man. The liberal fellowship is a channel for the liberal love of God.

And the Christian shares with the fellowship in this most paradoxical of all gifts. For it is given to us to be the giving persons and to learn a deeper blessedness than that which comes from receiving.

The only way we truly possess anything is by giving it away. Our goods and our talents are corrupted by hoarding but multiplied by dedication. On test, it really is more blessed to give than to receive. That life is richest which is most completely consecrated to stewardship.

Let Us Pray: All things come from thee, O Lord. May our gratitude be enlarged with sympathy toward those in any manner of need, and perfected in benevolence toward all. Use our talents and our lives for thine own glory, that the splendor of thy kingdom may come to the kingdoms of this world, and all thy people be crowned with the life abundant. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Bloomfield Residents "Mired Down In A Sea Of Mud"

Governor Val Peterson
State House, Lincoln

"State property should be of some value to local residents. Therefore, request your co-operation in contacting State Game Commission In Regard Stocking Highway 84 from Center to No. 81 with Fish

Signed: MAYOR, CITY COUNCIL
LIONS CLUB, CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

By RAMON HANSEN.
(Star Staff Member).

BLOOMFIELD, Neb.—Residents of this small northeast Nebraska town of 1,800 were about ready Friday to "throw in the towel."

They are bogged down in a "sea of mud" and their despair could best be summed up in the above telegram which was sent to the governor.

For a combination of snow and mud has maintained a travel-throttling grip on this area for days as residents Friday marked the fourth straight day without train service or mail.

They had designed themselves to the elements through the long winter—blizzard after blizzard for four and a half months during which roads were impassable more than a third of the time—with hope that spring would bring relief.

"Planking."

But instead, mud, more mud, and lots of more mud has come along with some more snow.

Old Sol, who was to be the answer to the winter's prayer, turned the tables and his work has made road conditions in this area worse.

The area is mired in mud. The roads have literally disappeared. Not even the state maintenance equipment could batter its way through the mud. State highway crews now contemplate "planking" the six miles east to highway 81 to free the residents from their isolation.

Handcar Used.

The only connection with the outside world has been a railroad handcar. It could take residents 12 miles southeast to Wausa and a hard-surfaced road. But Tuesday night it started to snow again; it snowed again Thursday, blocking the last life-line.

Not even the delegation of businessmen en route to Lincoln to protest the "situation" to the governor could get out of town. Three-foot drifts following the more than 18 inches of snow blocked the handcar.

A Bloomfield doctor has been giving instructions by telephone to an expectant mother in Niobrara. Muddy roads prevent him from getting to Niobrara in person.

In another case, a doctor here was reported to have traveled a circuitous route of 145 miles to reach a patient 25 miles away.

District Court Clerk Ray Hansen, father of writer, who lives here, has been unable to get to Center, the county seat, for a month, although only 14 miles separate the towns. He transacts necessary business by telephone.

The last train into Bloomfield came Tuesday and there has been no mail since then. The train brought in 25 Bloomfield passengers, most of them persons unable to get home by car after trips to other towns.

The only thing left to do was send the telegram and hope that the governor would catch the irony."

Delegations Complain Bad Road Conditions

Gov. Val Peterson last night heard complaints from three towns on highway conditions and was scheduled to hear more from two other towns late today.

Last night he conferred with a group from Clarkson, Howells and Dodge which seeks improvement of Highway 91.

The governor told the group rebuilding and hard surfacing of the road has been programmed, but actual construction depends on available revenue. He suggested that if the delegation wished to expedite improvement of the road it should get behind bills in the legislature that would increase the gasoline tax one cent a gallon and would also raise motor vehicle registration fees.

Peterson said the group told him they would go along with the increases.

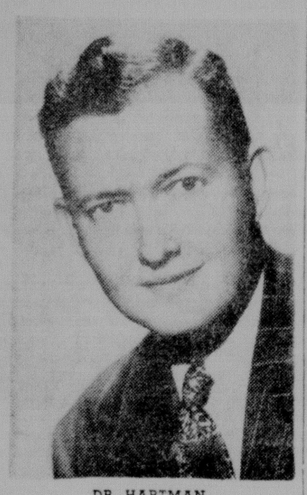

Today he expected to receive delegations from Henderson and Tecumseh.

Dire Need For Ministers In Rural Areas

Dr. Hartman Points Out

Rural communities are suffering "a moral and ethical crisis" and one of the reasons is because the need for trained country ministers remains neglected.

This opinion was voiced Thursday by Dr. Vladimir E. Hartman, one of the general session speakers who addressed the Midwest Rural Life and Education conference at the University of Nebraska. Dr. Hartman is chairman of the department of the rural church in the Bible College of Missouri at Columbia.

Unique Contribution.

"The rural areas," he declared, "are the producers not only of food and fiber, but of our human resources as well. This means that the rural church must continue to make its unique contribution of relating the Christian gospel to all of life. Only in such a climate as this can democracy survive."

"In order to fulfill its mission," he said, "the rural church must have a trained leadership. Yet the challenge to leadership still goes unanswered. The rural church is largely served by an untrained and ineffective ministry which has little concept of its resources and opportunities for service. Because of this lack of vision our rural communities are suffering a moral and ethical crisis."

if an operator left the land it immediately revert back to the state for re-leasing. Others would permit assignment of leases with a proviso that if a bonus was paid the state share in the bonus.

Proponents of the sale, who opposed killing of the bill held the floor during most of the debate.

Sen. Cretsinger told of the results of sale of school lands in other states, pointing out that in Colorado, Utah, California, Nevada, Washington, Idaho and Montana, the states had suffered no losses from investments of funds from sale. Oklahoma, he said, had made a capital gain of $1,082,000.

He told of 29 lease assignments on land valued for rental purposes at $113,665 bringing the speculators who assigned the leases $96,587 with the new owner paying the rent. He said improvements on the 29 places were only valued at $13,725.

Royal Family.

To get the lease on a tract valued at $8,055, he said one man paid $15,000. Another valued at $900 brought a $800 bonus. One valued at $6,490 with $1,500 in improvements brought $7,500.

The "Royal Family of Leaseholders" is not the best possible renters, Sen. Schroeder asserted. He pointed out that there is now delinquent and carried as collectable $38,371 in overdue payments on leases.

Leases with delinquent payments he cited were those for 1931 held by a Californian, on land in Blaine, Brown, Garfield, Loup and Scotts Bluff counties.

The delinquent list showed many of the leaseholders residing in Kansas, Wyoming, Colorado, New Jersey, Illinois and other states.

Sen. Prohs telling how in past sessions days had been spent in debate and nothing accomplished in correcting abuses said in his opinion as a businessman it was good business for the state to get out of the real estate business. He expressed the opinion that no two or three men could properly manage 1,600,000 acres of land.

He cited abuses that have come to his attention, one from a Californian urging him to oppose sale. By his own figures, the out-of-state lessee from 1944 to 1948 collected $27,725 from the farm operator and only paid the state $330 for his lease, Prohs said.

"Is it good business to rent land for one-sixth of the profit when the state gets nothing in taxes?" Prohs asked.

He told of the sale of a quarter section in 1948 for which the state had received but $136 from 1941 to 1948. Taxes for the first year after it was deeded amounted to $407.81, he said.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

DP's HAPPY TO BE IN LINCOLN—The Modenstein family, displaced persons from Poland, are shown in the living room of their new home, 1612 E street, shortly after their arrival in Lincoln Wednesday afternoon from Chicago. The family, left to right, Zira, 2, and her parents, Anny and Elisha Modenstein, landed in New York March 12 after a 12-day voyage from the American zone in Germany. They are living at present with Elisha's uncle, Alex Bernstein, whom they had never seen until Wednesday.

Elisha spent nearly 10 years in German concentration camps and his wife was sent from Lithuania to a Polish ghetto when the nazis marched on Poland. Their daughter was born in a DP camp near Munich. They have witnessed the terrors of German camps where thousands went to the gas chambers and whole families were wiped out.

Elisha lost his mother, four sisters and two brothers in the Jewish purge. His wife's mother and father were also killed early in the war. Bernstein spent three years completing arrangements to bring the Modensteins to Lincoln. (Star Staff Photo.)

New Features As Outdoor Theater Begins 2nd Year

"The Greatest Baby Sitter in the World" will again offer its services to Lincolnites, beginning April 2.

Genial Herman Gould, who fathered what he calls his baby sitter through a successful season at Fiftieth and Vine last year, announced Friday that the Star-View outdoor theater will re-open Saturday.

At 6:30 p. m. the Star-View gates will be opened and at dusk the first outdoor theater film will begin, accompanied by a cartoon review.

Manager Gould promises two shows every night, "rain or clear."

Orders Merry-Go-Round.

To back up his claim that outdoor movies are "great baby sitters," he has ordered a merry-go-round and teeter-totters. These new appliances won't be on hand opening night but there will be swings and slides.

Each individual car speaker has been sent to the factory and is in "top shape," Gould promises. The theater has been redecorated and there will be food and drink concessions as usual.

STORM DEATH TOLL 4

mend lines in Nebraska and 260 in South Dakota. By tonight, the company said it hoped to have Nebraska service restored.

Emergency Operations.

Highway department snow plows from all parts of the state have been sent into the snowbelt extending from the southwest to the northeast corner of the state. At North Platte, national guard units with radio-equipped trucks and weasels resumed emergency duties they had performed during operation snowbound.

The end of the storm, which brought 23 inches of snow at Hayes Center and lesser amounts elsewhere, still left the state with mud and flood problems.

The snow was disappearing fast today although temperatures rose grudgingly. Hayes Center measured 16 inches on the ground this morning, Burwell measured nine, North Platte 14, Sidney four and Valentine two.

Along the flood front the Elkhorn river had receded at Norfolk and Ewing this morning, but will continue to run bankful from Neligh to Scribner for the next 36 hours with some local flooding of lowlands, especially in the West Point area, weather officials said in Norfolk today.

The river gauge at Norfolk this morning read 8.3 feet, compared to 8.9 feet yesterday. The river had dropped last night at Ewing, where there is still about 15 inches of snow on the ground to melt and drain away.

No Serious Flooding.

There was some overflow between Neligh and Norfolk, but no serious flood threat prevails along the stream today, Harold Alexander of the Norfolk weather station said. With the ice out of the river there will be no serious local flooding like last month's, he added.

The Northfork river today was running fairly full but there are no flood threats, the meteorologist stated.

One thing was certain, March's violent exit will provide conversation matter for some time to come.

'Good Samaritan.'

Bus passengers reaching Omaha told of a "good samaritan" who helped them when 78 passengers on two Greyhound buses were stalled on Highway 30 near Maxwell, Neb.

H. E. White, of Salt Lake City, aboard one of the buses when it reached Omaha 28 hours late, said the group had been stranded eight hours when a man appeared. He was covered with snow and carried a large bag. From the bag he pulled bread, meat, cheese and water and distributed them among the hungry passengers.

A few hours later he returned with three others and a sleigh loaded with milk, food and coffee.

He identified himself as the Rev. A. E. Beasley of the Pentecostal church in Maxwell. He refused to take money. "I came to help, not to sell," he said.

L. W. Pfeil, who farms near Wausa, said muddy conditions on his farm has cost him nine head of livestock recently. A reporter who visited the farm found more than two feet of water in the basement of the Pfeil home and Pfeil said this is typical of farm homes in the vicinity.

Lack of communications shrouded the situation at Long Pine, where snowplows and a wrecking crew were working on a freight train which became stalled in a snowdrift Wednesday night.

In Omaha, Dist. Supt. W. L. Mueller of the North Western railroad said he assumed the tracks were cleared, but because of broken communication lines, the Omaha office had been unable to reach Long Pine direct.

E. P. Stapowich, meteorologist in charge of the Omaha office of the weather bureau, said he had talked to ranchers in the snow-struck area and had been advised that the ground probably would absorb much of the moisture contained in the heavy wet snow.

VAUDEVILLE REVIVED BY ANNUAL LINCOLN HIGH JOY NIGHT SHOW

Vaudeville has returned to Lincoln for a three-night stand!

The annual Joy Night follies, Lincoln high school's spring amateur show, opened to a capacity crowd Thursday evening at the L.H.S. auditorium. Dance routines, stunts, vocal and instrumental numbers, plus chorus girls (and boys) displayed an unusual amount of high school talent.

The theme of the show, "Links on the Rails," took the audience on a tour from Times Square to Persia and back to California in an enjoyable two and one-half hours. The opening skit featured the boys' glee club in "Links Locomotive on Time."

Bryon McLaird, who carried the lead in the school's senior play this year, and Ivan Slote, served as masters of ceremonies.

"Dry Bones" Applauded.

Perhaps the most spectacular skit was "No Bones About It." Elbert Starks, familiar to Joy Night audiences, again was captivating in his song and dance routine of "Dry Bones."

Top entertainment was furnished by the L club when the athletes showed equal prowess as ballerinas in "Broadway Beauties."

Petite Nancy Rodwell, blues singer, took the visitors on a "Sentimental Journey" and JoAnn Berry as "One Little Injun" skillfully performed an unusuaul acrobatic dance.

Another act which received a large ovation was a dual Persian dance by Lorraine Coryell and Jane Deppen.

One of the highlights of the annual frolic is the faculty act. First-nighters were not disappointed as the instructors presented their skit, "A 49'er Nugget," complete with chorus line and juggling by John Bruce.

The show closed with the girls' glee singing familiar selections from Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

Other Skits.

Also included among the 23 skits were:

"Red Capers."
"Platform Opera."
"Hawaiian Impressions."
"Tapping on the Rails."
"Pet of the Met."
"All Aboard."
"Wheel Capades."
"To Go or Not To Go."
"Chugging Choo Choo."
"Lunch Time on the Section."
"Stayville or Bust."
"Tony Taka Da Trip."
"Travelog by Melody."
"Mail Car Fantasy."
"California Bound."

Two other performances of Joy Night will be presented Friday and Saturday at the auditorium, 8:15 p. m. The show is sponsored by the student council and faculty members.

Top Quartets In Benefit Show At Coliseum Apr. 9

Seven of the nation's top barbershop quartets will join voices with a 40-man chorus April 9 at the University of Nebraska coliseum in a benefit show for The Cedars Home for Children.

The "parade of quartets" is sponsored by the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America.

The Cornhusker chapter chorus, S.P.E.B.Q.S.A., directed by Arthur Murray, will join with two Lincoln quartets and five other top-flight groups for the program.

Among quartets is a girls' group from Sheboygan, Wis., described by bandleader Fred Waring as the "finest girls' quartet in the country."

In contrast to last year, emphasis will be placed on music during the non-competitive parade.

Medical Bill's Big Challenges From Nebraska

Hendricks Says In Address To Doctors

The two great challenges to federal regulation of the medical profession have come from Nebraska.

That was the declaration of Tom Hendricks, secretary of the council on medical service of the American Medical association, before a group of doctors at the Cornhusker hotel Thursday night.

Hendricks said these challenges were: the memorial from the unicameral to congress in opposition to a national health insurance program and the editorial "God Hates A Coward" which appeared in the Omaha World-Herald.

Hendricks was speaking at the banquet closing the Bryan Memorial hospital biennial clinical conference.

The speaker also attacked the proposed compulsory federal health insurance program as too costly. Such a program, he said, would cost $12,000,000,000 annually.

This figure, he explained, is based on the present cost of medical care under the veterans administration.

Must Be Constructive.

But the ex-state senator of Indiana and a former newsman let the doctors know that "we must be constructive, we just can't be against."

The big trouble is not the public, but a "willful minority" within the profession, Hendricks asserted. "This willful minority can crucify the profession."

He then repeated the urgency of constructive opposition to the "socializers." Only by expanding the medical programs voluntarily on the local and county level, he said, can we oppose successfully the administration's program.

"Such expansion is especially necessary in Nebraska where the big problem is rural and hard to overcome," he added.

The $25 levy of the American Medical association on each of its members is not merely to defeat the bill, Hendricks said. "It is to rectify a situation."

When the facts are presented to the people, he added, the national health insurance bill will be defeated.

But if "policing" of the profession is necessary, it should be by the profession, he added. The bill submitted by Sen. Lister Hill March 29 would come closer to meeting with the ideals of the profession, he concluded.

Guests at the banquet included Donald W. Duncan, business manager of Lincoln General hospital; Ralph E. Harrington, chairman of the board of directors of Bryan hospital, and Mrs. Harrington; Rev. Edwin C. McDade, superintendent of Bryan hospital; Merrill Smith, executive secretary of the Nebraska Medical association and Mrs. Smith.

Speakers at the conference also were guests. They were Dr. Robert J. Jackson of the University of Iowa, Dr. E. G. Hamilton of St. Louis university, Dr. Edwin C. Ernst of Barnard and DePaul hospitals, St. Louis, Mo., and Dr. Joseph Pratt and Dr. A. H. Baggenstoss of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Paul Bancroft, chief of the medical staff of Bryan Memorial hospital, was master of ceremonies.

Spiritual Emphasis

It would be sheer folly for American editors to undertake to "interpret" Winston Churchill's historic address Thursday night. The former British war premier knows better than anyone else what he wants to say, and with no reproach for the gentlemen of the press, he knows how to say it so it would be understood by anyone capable of reading. That makes this particular job as easy as rolling off a log. Mr. Churchill said it—beautifully and eloquently—those who heard him in an audience gathered for an impressive occasion, those who heard him on the air waves, and millions more who read what he said in the news columns now know what Mr. Churchill said, understood what they heard or read—and, because this amazing figure from out of the past, who is paradoxically a symbol of the present, does not permit of neutrality—have reached conclusions of their own.

Any man who undertakes to talk of more than 10 grim years within the limitations of an address takes on a frightening responsibility, and yet it was the same gay, bold, lion-hearted Churchill of old, who spoke to the American people.

There were certain high points in that noteworthy address that managed to shine forth, thanks to the Churchillian genius of phrase and content, to find lodging in present-day thought. His assertion that "thirteen men in the Kremlin" are "aiming at the rule of the world" may set in motion the echoes of agreement or may inspire denials from outside of Russia, but at least it stands there at an historic spot in the road. His conclusion that the atomic bomb had spared London from bombardment, that it alone had saved Europe from being communized can produce the wide variety of expressions volunteered by members of the congress. His description of the perils of the Red drive in Asia could fan the apprehensions that chill millions, and finally his fervent prediction that "war is not inevitable" and that "we need not abandon hope or patience" could warm the cockles of those same hearts that had been chilled.

There was one thing about Churchill's address, however, that set it aside from anything that he has heretofore uttered. Through all of it rang an unaccustomed spiritual fervor, as witness:

"Here I speak not only to those who enjoy the blessings and consolation of revealed religion but also to those who face the mysteries of human destiny alone. The flame of Christian ethics is still our highest guide. To guard and to cherish it is our first interest, both spiritually and materially. The fulfillment of spiritual duty in our daily life is vital to our survival. Only by bringing it into perfect application can we hope to solve for ourselves the problems of this world and not of this world alone."

It was appropriate to inject that note at this Lenten season, and most of all to hold it aloft at the time when in the spirit of peace and the strength of strong moral convictions, suffused as they are with the highest spiritual aspirations, we embark upon another unknown journey. It is fitting to say it time and again.

What Is The Plan?

We bumped into a likable old friend yesterday, John Quinn. Aggressive, a man of ideas, it has always seemed to us that John Quinn loves a political fight better than a thick, juicy steak.

He is at his very best in the thick of political controversy.

These have been happy days for Mr. Quinn recently.

He is right in the thick of this boiling controversy over the Pick-Sloan plan versus MVA. Words roll off his tongue, statements trot from out of his office. We noted that in Minnesota he addressed an audience on the subject of Missouri basin development. He is also seeking to have bills introduced in all of the legislative sessions of the Missouri basin states to safeguard the ancient and honorable doctrine of "states rights."

These are busy days for Mr. Quinn and he seems to thrive physically upon them.

There is one thing we think Mr. Quinn should do.

Insofar as we have been able to discover the Pick-Sloan plan, to which we have no objection in its mechanical aspects, makes no provision for administering Missouri basin development after the dams and reservoirs, the irrigation facilities, and the generating plants are completed. We repeat there appears to be no plan for administration of a truly stupendous, magnificent undertaking. We can understand that because in their capacity the army engineers are not in a position to set up a plan of administration. Their activity is confined to actual construction work.

But we think Mr. Quinn ought to tell the people to whom he is talking that this is the case, if it is the case. We think he ought to tell the people what he and his friends think should be done to provide for administration of Missouri basin developments. It's a big job administering an undertaking that will cost hundreds of millions of dollars and some thought should be given to it now. Instead of talking so much about the "bureaucrats" administering an MVA, why not talk a little bit about the "bureaucrats"—because we can well imagine that in time those charged with handling the Pick-Sloan plan will find that harsh term leveled at them—who actually will administer the Pick-Sloan plan if it prevails?

Why not talk about the Pick-Sloan "bureaucrats" instead of talking all the time about he MVA "bureaucrats?"

Before he gets through with it we'll bet Mr. Quinn a plugged nickel he'd have difficulty in picking out one from the other. And we'll gamble with him again—to-wit: if no provision is made for administration in the beginning it's not such a poor guess to anticipate the army engineers or the bureau of reclamation will move in to run the whole show.

And how will the people now talking about control from Washington, or Washington bureaucrats, like that?

Since there is no plan of administration in the Pick-Sloan development, is it impertinent to ask beyond building dams and other mechanical steps what the plan really is?

Free As The Air

The battle over increased postal rates is edging up to the climax.

Senator Hugh Butler drew a hand in the game by firing the question at Postmaster General Jess Donaldson if it would not be cheaper in the long run to eliminate all second class matter from the mails.

We haven't the slightest idea where Senator Butler's question led but we have a $64 question which we would like him to answer. The public would be interested in knowing what savings in the operation of the postal department could be accomplished by cutting out the vast volume of franked matter. Members of congress send out tons and tons of it, 90 per cent of it hits the wastebasket. Overgrown, swollen administrative agencies contribute to the flood of franked matter.

The opportunity of a lifetime awaits Senator Butler.

SEVEN PILLARS OF INTEREST

A committee of the Nebraska unicameral, headed by Senator Norris Schroeder of Hoskins, has spent a large amount of time in studying the appropriation requests of Nebraska's seven state parks. A good question for the reader is to try and name 'em—all seven—how much ground they include, to what extent they have been developed, what investment have the people of Nebraska made in them? And while on the subject, perhaps, another good question would be the aggregate of public funds spent upon them in the period of the last 10 years.

Here are the seven state parks—Arbor Lodge, Chadron, Victoria Springs, Stolley, Ft. Kearny, Niobrara and Ponca. Two of them can be picked out immediately for their historic interest. Arbor Lodge was the palatial home of a distinguished Nebraskan of pioneer days, J. Sterling Morton. Ft. Kearny in the full glory of the old Overland trails which played such an historic part in western migration echoed more in territorial and pioneer history than any other site in Nebraska. All the way from Westport (now Kansas City) north to Bellevue, the west bank of the Missouri was the springboard from which the great rumbling caravans took off to merge in one central traveled route on the banks of the Platte just below Ft. Kearny. There thousands of young men and young women, seeking homes in the unsettled west, sensed a new security when over the old fort in the heat of summer afternoons they saw the Stars and Stripes floating in the breezes, quickened their pace to revel in its shade and its protection.

The Chadron State park is a beautiful, picturesque region. The Stolley tract boasts of a magnificent grove planted by an enterprising Nebraska settler. Niobrara, Ponca and Victoria Springs all possess topography which lends itself easily to development. In a decade the people of Nebraska have spent $290,300 upon these seven parks. The money has been divided in this manner: Arbor Lodge, largely for maintenance, $54,814.64; Chadron, maintenance and improvements, including a master plan, $76,180; Victoria Springs, $32,726.67; Stolley, $43,155; Ft. Kearny, $18,025, largely for a master plan; Niobrara, $28,556.19; Ponca, $17,592.50.

Senator Schroeder believes, and we think there is great merit to his proposal, that a master plan of development should be prepared in connection with all these seven state parks. Nothing could be more economical, more far-sighted, more sound. Under present financial pressures it appears to be a matter of long-range development, covering years, a portion of it completed every biennium, but every step taken to fit in with a master plan. There are master plans for two of these parks—Chadron and Ft. Kearny. They come under the jurisdiction of the state game, fish and forestation commission, a non-paid group of public-spirited Nebraskans, devoting their energies and thought to rebuilding the wildlife and the game and fish resources of Nebraska.

The activities of this commission are carried on largely through the fees and license funds collected for fishing and hunting permits, running into the hundreds of thousands of dollars each biennium. The estimate for the next biennium is well over a million dollars. Senator Schroeder thinks, and is supported by an opinion from the attorney general that a portion of this money can be used for park development. There is legal foundation for the position he takes, it would seem. The idea is not to impose a heavy drain on the funds to improve fishing and hunting in Nebraska, but the parks themselves, offering recreational opportunities, should receive attention and a reasonable amount of financial support in the development of outdoor living in the state.

One other thought with which Senator Schroeder has toyed as a result of the hearings conducted by the committee which he heads is that a special sub-committee or agency should be set up by the fish and game commission within its own organization to plan the development of Nebraska state parks. It has merit. The development of parks calls for individual enthusiasm, for knowledge of how to proceed, for a willingness to sacrifice heavily of time and energy to make thorough studies. Nebraskans 20 or 30 years hence will be grateful if at this time thought is directed to the development of a state park system. And under the heavy burdens of taxation now if state foresight could unify itself upon a plan that has been etched in rough form in a quarter of a century Nebraskans would reap rich dividends. For parks, properly developed, give character and color to a state; are a source of pride; an invitation to better living.

WASHINGTON — Now that James Forrestal is out as secretary of national defense, the story can be told of one of his last sessions with Truman and the man who was to take his place—Louis Johnson.

Though Forrestal had put up a tough fight against the appearance of being ousted from his job, he saw the handwriting on the wall and asked only that there be a gradual change-over from him to his successor. He wanted this to take place May 1, but at a luncheon with the president and Louis Johnson, he bowed to Truman's wish that it be April 1.

Furthermore, Forrestal volunteered to help Johnson in taking over the defense job and immediately placed important secret intelligence at his disposal.

At this luncheon meeting, it was agreed on the date when Johnson's appointment would be announced, and Johnson declared that until that time he was going to leave town.

"I don't want to be accused of leaking this news," he said. "And it's already begun to leak." He looked meaningly at the other two.

"There's been no leak from me," declared Truman.

"May one cross-examine the president of the United States?" asked Johnson.

The president smiled, and Johnson proceeded to do so.

"Didn't you tell General Eisenhower about this?" he asked.

"Oh, yes," admitted Truman, "but he won't tell a soul."

"And did you tell Senator Tydings?" asked Forrestal.

"Yes, I forgot about that," acknowledged the president, "but Tydings won't leak."

"Yeah?" said the new secretary of defense. "Well, it's leaking already. And that's why I'm leaving town."

If the justice department ever quits sitting on its hands and takes a real look at the Michigan political contributions, it will uncover some of the juiciest scandals in the U.S.A. Furthermore, it will get to the bottom of the manner in which a lot of political money has been raised in this country.

The justice department has fuddy-duddied round with a semi-investigation, but the U. S. district attorneys in Michigan have been half scared of the big Michigan auto interests, while higher-ups in the justice department have been busy chasing spies and running off in other directions.

Meanwhile, Senator Francis Myers of Pennsylvania, chairman of the Senate Campaign Investigating committee, has had some efficient probers busy in Michigan, and they have dug up evidence of widespread violation of the corrupt practices act. Among other things they have found:

A cashier's check, Feb. 24, 1948, by the Barclay Deyo corporation, a Detroit Ford dealer, for $750 to the Wayne County Republican Finance committee.

Also a contribution by the Park Motor Sales company, a Lincoln-Mercury dealer in Detroit, for $750, on Feb. 11, 1948, to the Wayne County Republican committee.

Also $953 to the same committee on March 12, 1948, by the Floyd Rice Sales and Service Co., another Ford dealer in Detroit.

Not only are these contributions by corporations a violation of the corrupt practices act, but senate investigators are interested in ascertaining what connection there was between certain large gifts to the republican machine and the nonpayment of sales taxes by certain auto dealers. Michigan raised a terrific wad of dough for the GOP. What did the Michigan auto people get in return for their money?

This may be denied, but Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia has appealed to the United States for American artillery, communications equipment and spare parts for his air force. Tito has told the American embassy in Belgrade he fears a Soviet pincers attack on Yugoslavia from Albania and Bulgaria where the Russians are concentrating military forces . . . The U. S. embassy has passed along Tito's urgent request—with the postscript that it has ironclad evidence that an average of two Russian ships each day have unloaded military equipment at the Albanian port of Durazzo for the past three weeks.

Field Marshall Montgomery will not remain in command of allied troops under the North Atlantic defense pact. The French—and some others—don't like him. Also the joint chief of staff of the western nations have already signed a secret agreement that the chairmanship of their military staff will be rotated as long as war doesn't threaten. However, as soon as war does threaten, an American will be named to head the combined chiefs in place of Montgomery.

Secretary of State Acheson has sent secret instructions to all American diplomats in the Far East telling them to be extra careful to avoid any action which might be interpreted as an insult to the yellow race. Conditions throughout the Far East are so tense that Acheson fears some isolated incident might touch off a disastrous race riot. The tense situation is partly because of communist propaganda, partly because of western blunders such as the Dutch attack on Indonesia. Communists have been hammering away at the theme that the white men from the west are trying to keep them in a backward state in order to exploit them. Acheson wants American diplomats to expose the Russian propaganda line when they can, but above all to be careful in all behavior.

The state department has decided to shake up the diplomatic corps by naming some U. S. labor leaders to diplomatic posts. One of the first to be considered is Clint Golden, capable CIO official now working as adviser to the economic co-operation administration. Golden heads the list of candidates for the job of American ambassador to Norway.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

APRIL 1

Beware this day, you grandpas gray!
That hat upon the walk disdain,
For should you kick, the hidden brick
May cause excruciating pain.
Still, if loud laughter be your joy
And twinkling eyes of brown or blue,
One good kick take, and let them make
A willing April fool of you.

Should salty be your cup of tea,
Remember to be solemn-faced
And sputtering say: "I'm sure today
The sugar has a briny taste."
And should you find your coat sleeves pinned,
Perchance a marble in your shoe,
Be glad as I, they scheme and try
To make an April fool of you.

Be not too wise: those twinkling eyes
All grandpas should delight to see.
Today be dense, and make pretense
That it is fun a fool to be.
Time takes away the games they play.
Too soon new pleasures they'll pursue.
So, let them make, for laughter's sake,
A happy April fool of you.

HER PREFERENCE.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In the mails this morning there were cards asking me, and the members of my family to vote more funds for the support of city government—to repair the streets, improve the parks, and others services. I would much prefer a house in which to live.

RELIGION NOT CONFUSING.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Mr. John T. Peck says religion is very confusing. On the contrary, it is very simple. In the Book of Micah we have these words: "He hath shewed thee what is good, and what doth the Lord require thee but to do justly, love mercy and walk humbly with thy God." It is as simple as that rug, brother, and even a child can understand that.

HOW TO BUILD A BRIDGE.

Nebraska City, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: There has been so much discussion about highway costs involving bridges over ravines, or dry channels, as well as bridges over running streams. I think that in many places a few culverts could replace costlier structures, with a dip in the highway over which high waters could escape. Why not drive down the supports of bridges, and protect both culverts and bridges through building piles to prevent washing of the approaches. The banks of streams do not wash away. Then if adequate allowance is made for flood waters to escape why should the approaches be taken out?

GOP TIPPING HAND.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The attitude taken toward Mr. Truman's human rights program at the recent republican Founders' day meeting was a great boost for the Nebraska democratic party—"the party that believes in the rights of all people above special interests." Step by step the GOP is tipping its hand as to how it stands on issues that concern the general welfare of the common people. Reps Miller and Stefan were here for the meeting at a time when important bills are clogging up in the 81st congress. Rent control did not seem to interest them, and like Nebraska's other senators and representatives, with the exception of democratic Congressman Gene O'Sullivan, they all voted "no." Their votes showed plainly how they stand. There are times when you ask yourself if these are the same men who promised so much before election. As a republican from the time of the Teapot Dome through chicken in every pot and two cars, I say: "Never again."

OPPOSES CITY TAX INCREASE.

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have noticed that besides the bill which was passed by the federal government for the extension of rent control, the city now wants to burden property owners with still more taxes. Isn't rent control enough? May I predict that once we get such a tax it will be very hard to abolish it ever. Why must the property owner always be the first tax victim? I would suggest some other sources be attacked. I think it would take nearer one million than the amount suggested to get the city in condition anyway. If we did buy this new equipment we wouldn't have enough money left to buy gas to operate it. May I ask why the city hauls snow in a 1½-ton truck a long distance, when it would save time and manpower to use much larger ones. I really don't see why it is necessary to haul it away unless the private businessmen would pay for it. It isn't the taxpayers' responsibility to furnish money for hauling it away. Next the city will be cleaning everybody's sidewalk and driveway. If the city needs money, which no doubt it does, why not make a special assessment of some kind which could be dropped again. The public might approve of that kind of tax, but not any more on homes! Not one dime of the $280,000 was to go for city employes, who help pay but get nothing in return. A city is no different than a private individual; a job should be done quickly, not mess around three or four years doing it. Once in shape the city should not need the present tax money to keep it going. Let's hear from someone else.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by

MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — Anyone in doubt as to the grave responsibilities assumed by the United States in the Atlantic pact could get enlightenment from Gen. Charles De Gaulle of France. The general has a way of putting into blunt language what is in the minds of other statesmen and politicians.

Marquis Childs

At his recent press conference he demanded priority for American arms for France. Then he went on to say that it would be a grave mistake to base the defense of Europe on Great Britain Another occupation of western Europe and another liberation would reduce the continent to complete moral and physical ruin, De Gaulle said.

The doubt thus expressed by the aloof and mystical general is one that has gnawed at the vitals of a number of Europeans in key positions. They know a secret that is in fact pretty much an open secret.

That secret has to do with the war plan conditionally agreed to by the U. S. joint chiefs of staff. While the details of the plan are carefully guarded, it is rather generally known that it is based on the broad assumption that the continent must be retaken after it has been occupied by the Russian invader.

Many of America's own military planners are pretty unhappy about the assumptions on which the war is based. They had an opportunity in World war II to see how close conquest, occupation and liberation came to erasing the structure of civilization in western Europe.

The Russian occupation would hardly be less rigorous. It might even be more thorough. Liquidation of all those with even any faint taint of disloyalty would come in the first phase.

Liberation would almost certainly cause far wider destruction. Whether any extensive underground could be counted on is a question hotly debated.

But when all the misgivings and doubts are expressed, the grim facts of life are still there confronting the doubters. The Russian invader could not today be kept out of "western Europe."

Perhaps in four years or five years or seven years France and the Benelux countries will be sufficiently strengthened by aid from this side of the Atlantic. Then a line could be defended on the Rhine or the Elbe until American armies arrive.

This element of time is one that plagues all concerned. The belief is growing that rearmament must somehow be speeded up. The time must somehow be cut from five or seven years to two years.

To do that, of course, would necessitate an over-all plan for the guidance of the whole American economy. Some sort of allocation system, for example, would be necessary to allocate scarce metals for rearmament.

The national security council and the national security resources board are the agencies from which such a plan might come. While there are no signs that it is in process, top military planners still wistfully hope it is possible to get general, over-all direction from the agencies that on paper at least have such large import.

This same hope was behind the speech that Bernard M. Baruch made to the conference of mayors in Washington. As he has done so often in the past, he urged a plan that would take into account all of the urgent necessities facing the U. S. and Europe.

Anyone who looks objectively at the political scene, with these necessities in mind as a kind of yardstick, must admit to pessimism. The trend seems to be not for unflinching recognition of the realities but in the opposite direction.

Thus, at signs of recession or depression, such conservative politicians as Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio begin to talk about economizing on European aid. Taft is for the Atlantic pact. But he has indicated that he will oppose any appropriation for arms to Europe.

It is by such strange anomalies, halfway in the present-day world and halfway in the agreeable twilight of the past, that all the hopes and plans for peace through reasonable strength and responsibility can be nullified. There is no easy formula and certainly it does not lie betwixt and between past and present.

A-Bomb Saving Europe

Only 'Deterrent' For Reds, Briton Declares; 'War Not Inevitable'

BOSTON—(AP) — Winston Churchill said last night that Europe would have been "communized" and London bombarded but for the atom bomb in the hands of the United States.

The British war leader said that the bomb served as a "deterrent." He added that "war is not inevitable."

"If we perservere steadfastly together, and allow no appeasement of tyranny and wrong-doing in anuy form," he declared, "it may not be our nerve or the structure of our civilization which will break —something else will break, and peace may yet be preserved."

Churchill spoke before nearly 14,000 persons at a mid-century convocation of Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston Garden.

Malignant Policy.

The speech was carried by radio and television to one of the largest audiences ever to hear a speaker.

Churchill rolled out in sonorous tones a blunt accusation that "thirteen men in the Kremlin x x x aiming at the rule of the world" had "self-preservation" as the root of their "sinister and malignant policy."

Repeating the phrase, "These 13 men in the Kremlin," Churchill said their "missionaries are in every country as a fifth column, awaiting the day when they hope to be absolute masters of their fellow-countrymen and pay off old scores."

"x x x The largest army in the world," Churchill said, "is in the hands of a government pursuing imperialist expansion, as no czar or kaiser had ever done."

Marshall Plan Hailed.

Churchill said that the western world was "now confronted with something quite as wicked, but in some ways more formidable than Hitler x x x."

Churchill repeatedly asserted that "We have no hostility to the Russian people," adding:

"We seek nothing from Russia but good will and fair play."

He hailed the Marshall plan, the unity in western Europe, and the Atlantic pact as demonstrating a "tremendous change in our outlook and policy toward the future of the world."

"Three years ago," Churchill said, "I spoke at Fulton, Mo., under the auspices of President Truman.

"Many people here and in my own country were startled and even shocked by what I said.

Fear Friendship.

"But events have vindicated and fulfilled in much detail the warnings which I deemed it my duty to give at that time."

(At Fulton, in March, 1946, Churchill lamented the lowering of an "iron curtain" across Europe, assailed Soviet Russian expansion, and called for the fraternal association of the British Commonwealth of Nations and the United States.)

"Today," Churchill sad, "there is a very different climate of opinion.

"No one could, however, have brought these immense changes in the feeling of the United States, Great Britain and Europe but for the astounding policy of the Russian Soviet government.

"We may well ask: 'Why have they deliberately acted for three long years so as to unite the free world against them'?

"I offer you my answer to this strange conundrum.

"It is because they fear the friendship of the west more than its hostility.

"They cannot afford to allow free and friendly intercourse to grow up between the vast areas they control and the civilization of the west.

"The Russian people must not see what goes on outside, and the world must not see what goes on inside the Soviet domain."

CHURCHILL, THE PHRASE MAKER

BOSTON — (INS) — Winston Churchill, the phrase-maker, added the following last night to his ever-growing list of quotable quotes:

"Darkling hour"—For the present period in world history.

"Bleeding and breathless"—To describe how the victorious allies emerged from World war II.

"Life is a test and this world a place of trial."

"The flame of Christian ethics is still our highest guide."

"Let us then move forward together—fearing God and nothing else."

No Cuts For Vets Hospitals

House Group Ignores President's Reduction

WASHINGTON — (INS)—A house appropriations subcommittee was reported ready today to disobey President Truman on his demand that funds for building veterans hospitals be cut in this year's budget.

Members of the house group considering funds for the veterans administration disclosed that they have reached an agreement to ignore the chief executive's order that construction orders totalling 237 million dollars be cancelled.

The cut-back on the hospital construction program was the major economy feature of President Truman's forty-two billion dollar budget for the coming fiscal year.

Approval Needed.

Mr. Truman called on congress to rescind contract authorizations on 24 hospitals previously approved by congress. Contract authorizations enable an agency to carry out a construction program without having to wait for a specific appropriation of money from congress.

The subcommittee action must be approved by the full house appropriations committee but members pointed out that the decision of the subcommittee almost invariably is endorsed.

Those planning to override the president's suggestion defend their action on grounds that congress is obligated to carry out in full the program it has authorized.

They also asserted that members of congress whose districts would be affected by the economy wave have submitted protests which they deem valid.

Committee members also explained that they have tentatively voted to reduce funds for hospital construction by 15 per cent because of lower building costs.

Ramming First Lady's Car Costs Driver $25

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The dubious distinction of ramming Mrs. Harry S. Truman's car cost Howard Todd $25.

Todd, 26, said he suffered a giddy spell and was trying to stop when his auto struck Mrs. Truman's car last Friday. The president's wife was not in it at the time.

Australians Bar Entry Of Filipino Hero

. . Hoped To Visit Family

CANBERRA — (INS) — Australia slammed the door today on Cpl. Lorenzo Gamboa, Filipino war hero in the U. S. army, who wants to visit his wife and two children in Melbourne.

Prime Minister Joseph B. Chifley said that the government's decision to deny admission to Gamboa is "final."

Despite the personal intercession of Gen. Douglas MacArthur on behalf of Gamboa, the soldier has been refused entry because of the "white Australia" policy.

The Filipino soldier is currently serving with U. S. forces in Tokyo. His term of enlistment ends in June, at which time he had hoped to join his wife and children.

Gamboa, who is a U. S. citizen, was originally discharged from service in Australia. He was ordered out of the country nine months later, because he was an "Asiatic."

He re-enlisted recently.

Spending By Business To Be Cautious

Federal Economists Remain Cheerful

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A survey of business spending plans today posted some fairly gloomy signs for the last half of 1949. However, government economists said that this index—which has forecast economic busts in the past—is risking its reputation for accuracy.

The collective bet of American businessmen on the future was posted in their plans for spending on new factories and equipment. Clearly, they figure that things are going to be sliding down through the final months of the year.

The survey, by two government agencies, pointed to business' decision to cut back outlays in last-half 1949 by 14 per cent under last year. The theory is that prospects for profits would be poorer.

First Half to be Brisk.

First-half 1949 factory and equipment buying, however, will run 5 per cent above the same period of 1948's record high—at least partly because of a lot of plant construction that couldn't be halted on short notice.

While businessmen's expectations have correctly given advance signals on economic storms in the past, government economists said they'll bear discounting this time for such reasons as these:

1. Government spending—state and local, as well as federal—will increase sharply. It will more than offset the indicated $900,000,000 drop in business spending for 1949 as a whole.
2. Business probably will spend more on plant expansion in last half—1949 than they admitted in the survey. Past experience shows they're conservative and cagy on future spending, prone to underestimate.

The survey, made by the securities and exchange commission and the commerce department, was taken in mid-February—after a break in commodity prices.

It indicated that business spending this year will total $18,300,000,000, and thus—largely because the cutting down won't be felt until the year's last half—will top anything in dollar volume except 1948's record $19,200,000,000.

Buddy Clark Hit For $300 A Week In Child Support

. . . By First Wife

LOS ANGELES—(AP)—Crooner Buddy Clark is pretty sharp with the vocal notes, but a little behind in the bank variety, says his ex-wife.

Songstress Louise Hughes, Clark's first wife, charged in Superior court yesterday that he is $4,000 behind in his payments for support of their son, 11, and daughter, 9. She also asked that payments be boosted from $50 to $300 a week.

Clark, also remarried, countered with an offer of $300 monthly. He said he earned $58,397 gross last year—not the $100,000 his ex-wife claimed—and that she had denied him permission to see the children.

Sen. Taylor Will Appeal Jail Sentence

Solon Is Found Guilty Of Disorderly Conduct

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. —(INS)— Attorneys promised today they will "take this case to the U. S. Supreme court if necessary" to clear Sen. Glen Taylor (D-Ida) of a disorderly conduct sentence of 180 days in jail and a $50 fine.

Taylor was found guilty last night by a Jefferson County Circuit Court of Appeals. His attorney immediately filed notice of appeal to the Alabama Court of Appeals.

The former running mate of progressive party presidential candidate Henry Wallace told newsmen:

"I am pleased with the decision because it permits me to go to a higher court."

Terms Trial "Fair."

He said he believed the two-day trial was "fair," but added that he feels sure the decision will be reversed in a higher tribunal.

The verdict and sentence were returned by a jury which found the senator guilty on one of three counts as a result of a political rally in Birmingham last May 1.

Taylor testified that he intended to test the validity of Birmingham's segregation laws by attempting to walk through an entrance marked for Negroes.

Judge George Lewis Bailes gave the all-white male jury power to fix the punishment after he instructed them to find the senator guilty on one of three charges—disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, or assault and battery.

Cut Down Spending, Says Taft

$3,000,000,000 Slash Would Erase Deficit

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Taft (R-Ohio), offered his proposed $3,000,000,000 slash in federal spending today as the answer to President Truman's argument that a federal deficit would hurt more than a tax boost.

Taft, who heads the senate GOP policy committee, commented:

"If we can cut 10 per cent out of most of these appropriation bills that are coming along we can save $3,000,000,000 and have a comfortable surplus of more than $2,000,000,000 to apply on the debt."

Mr. Truman has predicted that the government will run $873,000,000 in the red in the year beginning next July 1 unless taxes are increased. His warning that such a deficit would do more damage than higher taxes came at his news conference yesterday.

But Taft contended this would be only a "book deficit." To put on new taxes in a time of falling prices would do more harm than good, the Ohioan added.

Chairman George (D-Ga) of the senate finance committee agreed with Taft that the way to keep the budget balanced is to cut spending —not raise taxes.

Sen. Wherry of Nebraska, the GOP floor leader, said it sounded a little peculiar to have a democratic president say that deficit spending might bring on a depression.

"That's what democratic administrations have been engaging in for 16 years—deficit spending," Wherry said. "I think such spending will help avoid a depression temporarily, but of course it will wreck the economy in the long run."

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) defended the president's tax-deficit position.

"The president is exactly right," O'Mahoney said. "It would be more damaging to have a deficit than to have new taxes."

Chapter 11

Raff interrupted. "Was it usually?"

"Yes, Dr. Hubbard had always been terribly fussy about keeping that door locked when he wasn't there. And so I looked in. And there was Dr. Bray with a flashlight going through Hubbard's personal files. You can imagine how terribly shocked I was. Bray, of all people, to do a sneaky thing like that. Of course he saw me and started to explain. But I didn't even want to hear what he had to say. All I wanted to do was get away from him. And that's when I ran into you."

Ellen's eyes widened as she continued her story. "What Dr. Bray told me that night was a story of one of the filthiest lowdown tricks ever perpetrated by a human being. It all goes back to what happened a long time ago, about twenty years ago, when Dr. Bray was a high school chemistry teacher in Memphis. His real name, he told me, was David Brooks. He had been married for a few years and they had a son, about a year old at that time. Well, both the boy and his wife had been very ill and they just couldn't see their way to paying all their debts. Dr. Bray, or Brooks, was desperate, and finally he hit upon a scheme to make some extra money.

"He rigged up a still in the laboratory and spent evenings and week ends distilling alcohol. It was during prohibition and so he had no trouble selling the stuff to some of the local politicians." She snorted contemptuously.

"Shortly afterward," she went on, "he found out that the politicians in turn were handing the stuff over to some of the speakeasies which were doing a flourishing business with high school students. Bray drew the line at that. And that's just what he told the politicians who were getting the alcohol from him.

"The next day there was a police raid on his laboratory. Bray was convicted and spent seven years in the penitentiary, at Leavenworth I think it was. In the meantime his son died, and I guess Mrs. Bray almost died, too. But she pulled through.

"Well, while he was in prison Bray took correspondence courses so that he had a pretty good background in biology by the time he was finally paroled. He decided that if he could get a job in some university he and Mrs. Bray could lead the quiet but secure lives they so desperately wanted. He changed his name and came here as a graduate student on an assistanship.

"He must have been a pretty good graduate student, because when he got his doctor's degree he was offered a job as instructor here. He gradually worked himself up until finally, as you already know, five years ago he was appointed head of the department. Things were really rosy for the Brays then. And Jimmy, their second boy, was six years old and growing up to be a husky kid.

"And then, out of the clear sky, the new associate professor, Hubbard, dropped his bombshell."

"Professor Hubbard," she continued, "came into Bray's office just about two weeks after he got here and told Bray flatly that he, Hubbard, wanted to be head of the department. He had with him clippings of the Tennessee newspapers of 20 years ago, with pictures of Dr. Bray and the whole story of Bray's conviction and prison sentence. He threatened to give the story to the newspapers here and rehash the whole affair if Bray didn't resign and recommend him for the job.

"Do you think this university would keep him if the story came out? Do you think any university would take him? No, they would not! And Bray realized that. Besides, he was thinking of the effect it would have on his wife and especially on Jimmy. You see, Jimmy didn't know anything of the old story. And so Dr. Bray did the best thing and kept quiet and resigned. And Dr. Hubbard became chairman of the department." She stopped speaking and stared at the sugar bowl.

"But that was five years ago. What happened a week ago Sunday night?"

She roused herself.

"Oh, yes. Well, Jimmy has developed a bad cough this winter and his doctor told Dr. Bray he ought to take him to a milder climate. Bray had an offer from Arizona State which would have been an ideal place for them.

"Dr. Hubbard was very dependent on Dr. Bray for the actual running of the department, and as long as Bray stayed and kept quiet he knew he was safe from Hubbard. But this thing with Jimmy was serious, so he decided to have a frank talk with Hubbard, which he did. And Dr. Hubbard refused point-blank. He told Dr. Bray that if Bray left he would make sure that Bray would never get another job in a university. And that was that.

"This happened just before the Sunday night when I surprised Dr. Bray in Hubbard's office. He thought Hubbard might be keeping the clippings somewhere in the files and he was trying to get them.

Her words brought Raff's thoughts back with a jerk. The one thing he had learned was that Bray himself had an excellent motive for murdering Hubbard. But then, who had murdered Bray? Or was it murder after all? From what Ellen had told him he had gotten some insight into Bray's character. He might well have murdered Hubbard himself and then committed suicide. Especially, argued Raff to himself, if Bray had thought the hospital was investigating Hubbard's death. And Bray would have arranged the suicide to look like murder. That way it would seem unlikely that Bray himself had murdered Hubbard, and Bray's family could benefit from his insurance. Yes, the more he thought about it the more plausible this theory seemed.

"Incidentally," he asked, "do you know which insurance company Bray did business with?"

She shook her head.

He frowned. "None? Are you sure?"

"Absolutely none. I'm sure of that. You see, they were always afraid someone would investigate his previous life."

And there, thought Raff, goes my nice theory knocked straight out the window.

"Come on," he said. "We've got to get back to your office."

(To be continued).

All-State Elementary School Art Exhibit Here April 25-30

The second annual all-state elementary school art exhibit will be held April 25-30 at Miller and Paine's auditorium, Mrs. M. E. Vance, in charge of the annual affair, announced today.

The annual exhibit is conducted under the auspices of the art department and extension division of the University of Nebraska.

Last year, about 400 original pieces of art work, submitted by elementary school students throughout the state, were exhibited.

To Judge 400.

Prof. Duard W. Laging, chairman of the art department at the University of Nebraska, and Prof. Dwight Kirsch, director of the art galleries, will select the approximate 400 exhibits that will be displayed.

Following the annual exhibit, the 30 pieces judged to be the best, will make up a rural traveling art gallery that will be sent to schools and educational groups on request.

Each county and the larger schools in the state are permitted to submit a certain number of pictures for possible showing among the 400.

The Lancaster county superintendent's office has chosen 10 from more than 50 which were submitted, for the final judging by the two professors. The Lincoln schools are allowed a quota of 20. The youthful artists of the pictures chosen for display will be given certificates of award.

Nebraska, which held its first exhibit last year, was the first state in the union to hold such an event.

Spud Shipment Up

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—(AP)—Western Nebraska potatoes shipped in February totaled 1,728 carloads, Earl Barrios, chief of the potato development division, has announced. Total shipments from central and western Nebraska since July 1, 1948, to March 1, amounted to 8,455 carloads. That was 1,336 carloads more than were shipped during the entire 1947-1948 season, Barrios said.

Mid-March Farm Price Index Tops February Figure

Higher Meat Animal Mark Brings Rise

Corn, Barley Also Climbing

Nebraska's all-commodity farm price index rose sharply during the month ending March 15, standing 24 points higher than mid-February, the state-federal division of agricultural statistics declared Friday.

However, the March 15 index of 292 was 20 points below the 312 recorded March 15, 1948.

Much higher prices received for meat animals, mostly cattle and sheep, were largely responsible for the rise in the index, although most grains showed some rather substantial increases, the bureau stated. Hay crops declined sharply, with the coming of spring, while dairy cows and dairy products declined moderately.

42 Point Boost.

Increases of $2.80 per cwt. for cattle, $1.00 for calves, $1.80 for sheep, $3.00 per cwt. for lambs, and 30 cent increase in the price of hogs caused a 42 point rise in the all-livestock and livestock products index, the bureau said.

"The mid-March livestock index of 319 compares with 288 recorded last month, and 321 recorded March 15, 1948," the report stated.

As a part of this index, milk cows declined $3.00 per head, averaging $182 on March 15, and butterfat was two cents lower at 64 cents, while wholesale milk dropped to $3.80 per cwt. off 25 cents from the previous month. Cattle averaged $21.80 per cwt. for mid-March, calves $24.00; sheep $11.70, lambs $25.00, and hogs $19.50 per cwt.

Crop Index Up.

The all-crop index at 218 was two points higher than mid-February. One year ago, the all-crop index stood at 287 per cent of the 1909-1914 base period. Corn was up 6 cents per bushel at $1.15, wheat up 2 cents at $1.98, barley up 5 cents at $1.03, and grain sorghum increased 7 cents to $1.99 for mid-March.

Oats decreased 3 cents per bushel at 66 cents, and potatoes showed a decrease, caused largely from frost damage in many of the storage cellars. Hay prices decreased substantially from the blizzard conditions of February. Alfalfa averaged $20 per ton, wild hay $15.40 and all-hay $17.40 per ton.

For the U. S. the farm price index recovered slightly and at mid-March stood three points above mid-February, but 22 points below a year ago.

SKINNY GIRLS

Look Skinnier—in long dresses

The "new look" is no boon for thin, underweight girls. But if there is nothing organically wrong, you can gain those figure-filling pounds of flesh with a doctors great stomachic tonic known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

Taken regularly, this great medicine works two ways—it quickly helps to increase your appetite and at the very same time aids your digestion to change the food you eat into solid pounds of flesh. A large bottle costs little at druggists or in handy tablet form, only 50c.

(Cut this ad out—it means extra pounds.)

State Highways In South Sioux City Are Still Blocked

SOUTH SIOUX CITY — (AP) —State highways 73-77 remained blocked Friday for bus and truck traffic through the city from the south.

Mayor Merle A. Haynes, who yesterday ordered the highways closed, said the order was still in effect last night.

However, it will be lifted, he reported as soon as the state highway department crew, now in the town, finishes repairing damaged sections of the highway within the city.

The highway crew arrived here Thursday, he said, and started laying heavy bridge planking on damaged sections of the street. This temporary repair job, he said, is expected to be completed by Friday. When it is, the highway will again be open to bus-truck traffic, he said.

Mayor Haynes has explained that his action was a protest against failure of the state to assist municipalities in maintaining streets over which highway travel is routed.

A committee of the state legislature recently killed a bill which would have provided such aid, and efforts to raise the bill on the floor of the legislature were unsuccessful.

Senator McKnight of Auburn who sponsored the bill said that there are still several highway bills scheduled to come up before the revenue committee next Tuesday. He said it is possible that the state aid provisions could be tacked on one of those bills as an amendment.

City Jurisdiction On State Highways Is 'Something New'

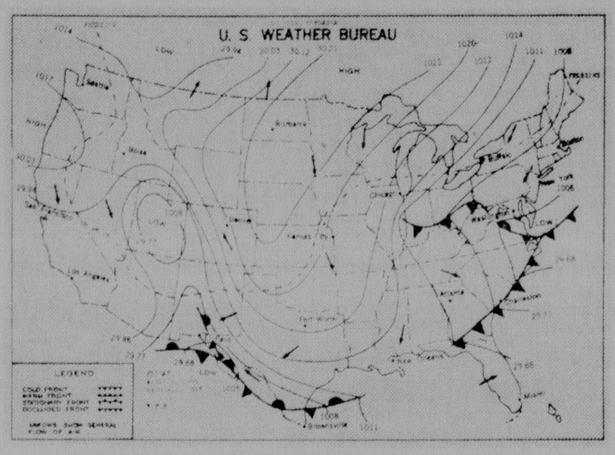

State Engineer F. C. Klietsch admitted Thursday night that the action of the South Sioux City, Neb., mayor in halting heavy traffic on state highways running through the town is something new so far as the state is concerned.

"We've never had a situation like this before," he said.

Mayor Merle A. Haynes closed highways 73-77 to bus and truck traffic throughout the city from the south.

"I suppose the city has jurisdiction, inasmuch as it is within the city limits that the mayor has taken action," Klietsch said.

The engineer pointed out that the state itself has taken identical action in a similar situation in other Nebraska communities. Roads have been closed to heavy traffic at Central City, Neb., twice this week, he said.

WEATHER BUREAU SUMMARY—Further eastward movement of the storm past the Atlantic coast off New Jersey was with considerable loss of intensity but attended by light to moderate rainfall in the Ohio valley and most portions of the Atlantic states excepting the greater part of New England. The southwestern trough of low pressure is attended by scattered showers in Colorado and Arizona. Temperatures below 20 occurred early Friday from northeastern North Dakota to upper Michigan, extreme western South Dakota, and western and north-central Nebraska, ranging upward to near 35 in Missouri, southeastern Iowa, and central Oklahoma.

Grand Champion Brings $2,000

COLUMBUS, Neb. — (AP) — Zaran of F.A.F. 2nd, grand champion bull of the Nebraska Aberdeen-Angus Breeders' association show, sold Wednesday for $2,000, officials said.

"This is one of the largest prices paid since the association began holding sales here a number of years ago," sale officials said.

The two-year-old bull, owned by Gard brothers of Beaver Crossing, Neb., was purchased by F. S. and A. H. Whittum of Stuart, Ia.

Reserve Sells for $925.

The reserve champion bull Bandolier of Shell Creek 24th, owned by E. J. Berg and son of Schuyler, Neb., went to Sylvia Piercy of Valentine for $925.

The grand champion female Alfalfa Queen N, 31st, consigned by Ed J. Neidig of Madison, Neb., also brought one of the all-time tops here. She was sold to Bud and Jack Vanberg, sons of Pavilion owner M. H. Vanberg, for $1,175.

The Vanbergs also purchased the reserve champion female, Revelady B., owned by D Johnston of Oak, for $570.

There were 31 bulls and 16 females auctioned off by Ray Sims of Belton, Mo., bringing $23,502. The bulls brought an average of $544, and females averaged $412.

Averages are well over the 1948 spring sale, when bulls hit $466 and females $312. In the 1948 fall sale there were 48 animals sold, one more than this spring, but they brought some $4,000 less.

Rites At Fairbury For Parker Campbell

(Special to The Star)

FAIRBURY, Neb. — Funeral services for Parker B. Campbell, 58, who died at his home in Omaha Sunday, were held here Thursday afternoon.

Born at Haddam, Kas., he lived in Fairbury and Grand Island prior to going to Omaha. He was a veteran of World war I and a member of the American Legion and the Benson Presbyterian church.

Surviving are his wife, Leona May, and two sisters, Mrs. Grace Lechner and Mrs. Hazel Schovill, both of Grand Island.

Both Lincoln, Omaha Lack West Interest

. . . Carpenter Charges

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—(AP)—Charges that Omaha and Lincoln groups are not interested in western Nebraska's welfare were made here last night by Terry Carpenter, democratic candidate for the U. S. senate in the November general election.

Carpenter's statement came after Arthur Storz, Omaha brewer, had appealed for statewide support of Nebraska products.

The discussion developed at a chamber of commerce meeting which had Arthur E. Stoddard, new Union Pacific railroad president as guest speaker.

"It is about time Nebraskans got off their 'dead ends' and did a little pushing instead of all trying to ride," Carpenter stated.

He held up Scottsbluff as an example of industrial development, saying "we grew in spite of ourselves. Business came here because it's a good place to operate."

The Scottsbluff business man contended Nebraska is going to have to "eliminate penny pinching attitudes that began with the making of the state the white spot in the nation. Business is attracted when something is offered it."

Storz's talk followed the lines of his widely-circuulated letter, "Wake Up, Nebraska." He appealed for support of state products and a plan for attracting new business and increasing the state's population.

THE PEOPLE SPEAK

are boxed so plainly on the front page of The Star. I am sure God will use them to His glory, for they are full of the grace and love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord. "Fear, Not Love" by John T. Peck should not be confusing after reading John 3:16. Religion is many times fear, but Christianity is love. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." "But true love casts out fear." "Ye must be born again," said Jesus, the greatest Lover of all times. To be born again is to understand that God is love and has manifested that love towards us in Christ's death for us while we were yet sinners. It is "the long suffering of God that leads us to repentance," namely to accept the grace of God through Christ and then to live lives pleasing to Him. "The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord" spells peace, love, joy to all who will repent.

ARNOLD'S TABLE.

Hebron, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The January issue of the Nebraska Researcher, published by a group of patriotic citizens, headed by Frank Arnold of Fullerton, is very enlightening. A copy should be placed in the hands of every Nebraska taxpayer. With other valuable information there is a table showing the state tax levies for the past 28 years since 1921. It reveals the interesting fact that the tax levy went down in every case when a democratic governor followed a republican and went up when a republican governor followed a democrat.

	Average Tax Levy
McKelvie, Rep., 1921-22	$56,412,900
Bryan, Dem., 1923-24	53,363,752
McMullen, Rep., 1925-27	58,807,826
Weaver, Rep., 1929-30	58,963,737
Bryan, Dem., 1931-34	47,947,047
Cochran, Dem., 1935-40	45,788,736
Griswold, Rep., 1941-46	52,786,093
Peterson, Rep., 1947	81,396,348
Peterson, Rep., 1948	90,287,563

This record speaks for itself. The republicans have always spent more money and given the taxpayers less in return. The administrations of Bryan and Cochran were noted for the building of highways and for maintaining them after they were built. The last two republican administrations have done little in building new highways and have failed to keep those already built in good repair, although the 1948 tax is almost double that collected by the last two democratic governors.

CRETE, Neb.—(AP)—New rumors about a migrant lion have cropped up in Saline county.

The beast or "thing" was supposed to have visited a rural schoolhouse two miles southwest of Crete Wednesday night. B. F. New Revenue Measures Delayed In Committee

Sales, Income Tax Debate Rages For 5 Hours As 29 Witnesses Tell Stand

Legislation (LB 234), providing for a state two per cent retail sales tax, and LB 300, calling for a state income tax, were still in committee Thursday after five hours of testimony by 29 witnesses before the legislative committee on revenue.

When the public hearing was finally adjourned at 7 p. m. Thursday, the crowd that had filled the senate chamber almost to capacity at the beginning of the hearing had dwindled down to only a few persons who stayed on to the bitter end. The committee adjourned without taking a vote.

$24,000,000 A Year.

Views presented to the committee members during the hearing on the two bills ranged from those who favored both bills, those in favor of one of the measures and opposed to the other, those favoring one of the bills if certain provisions were added, and those unalterably opposed to either.

Sen. Dwight Burney, Hartington, co-introducer of the sales tax bill, led off in the parade of witnesses. He based his argument on the thesis that a new tax structure, in addition to adding needed funds to the state's coffers, would be sufficiently large to remove some of the load presently carried entirely by property tax revenues.

Stating that revenues under the sales tax plan would amount to between $20,000,000 and $24,000,000 a year, Senator Burney submitted to the committee an amendment for the bill which would provide that part of the revenue derived from the tax would be used to eliminate property tax levies now used to finance the state building fund and the veterans' aid fund.

One-Tax System.

Sen. William Metzger, Cedar Creek, the other introducer of the bill, stated that there is no way to finance the additional expense accruing to the state from increased social services on the present tax basis without overburdening property.

"From a social view, a man is today penalized if he wishes to improve his property; he then raises the value and this increases his taxes," Senator Metzger said. He stressed the opinion that a one-tax system, such as is now in effect in Nebraska, cannot be sufficient to finance present-day enlarged governmental services.

Sen. Lester Anderson, Aurora, introducer of the income tax measure, stated that his system would be a definite replacement tax, levied only on those who are able to pay. He said this measure would raise approximately $10,000,000 a year, half of which would be put in the state general fund, and the other half returned to the counties.

Provisions of Bill.

Under the bill persons with an income less than $5,000 would pay only per cent tax. There would be a $1,000 deduction for single persons, $1,500 for married couples and $250 additional for each child. The tax then is graduated upward so that persons with an income over $10,000 would pay four per cent. Corporations, too, would pay four per cent on net income.

"We have glorified our White Spot" to the point where we have taxed our property almost out of existence," he stated. "We have reached the point where our most prided virtue is becoming a vice."

Sen. Louis Holmes, Grand Island, appearing in support of Sen. Anderson told the committee, "millions and millions of dollars created in this state are sent out of the state without paying one cent to help maintain the state."

68 Pct. To Schools.

Seven persons representing various organizations having to do with schools, appeared in support of a sales tax, with the provision that 68 per cent of the revenue be allocated to schools, 30 per cent to the state general fund, and the remaining two per cent used for administration.

Dr. Allen P. Burkhardt, superintendent of the Norfolk schools and president of the Nebraska State Education association, said, "the best way to make the sales tax a replacement for property tax is to give it to schools. Teachers can afford to pay a sales tax, as can all laboring people."

Others representing the school's point of view in urging the 68 per cent appropriation for school support, included Ed Bottcher, Talmadge, president of the Nebraska School Boards association; Mrs. Gene Allen, Lincoln, representing the Parent-Teachers association, and Mrs. R. N. Gould, Omaha, president of the Nebraska Congress of Parent-Teachers associations.

After two-and-one-half hours of testimony in favor of the measures, the opposition to the bills were given their chance to present their views to the committee.

In all cases, the argument of the opposition was bassed on the opinion that proponents of the bill had failed to prove that either of the new levies would be a replacement for present property taxes, and quoted numerous statistics to show that this had not been the case in other states where such taxes are imposed.

Pay-As-You-Eat.

In early all cases, opponents agreed that additional funds were needed to operate the present state government, but none felt that either of the proposed method would accomplish that purpose. When asked for suggestions on other possible means of raising revenue, higher evaluations, more efficient equalization and decreased state expenses were all mentioned as solutions for the problem.

Robert Armstrong, representing the Association of Omaha Taxpayers, told the committee, "Once you start out with a form of tax, then each session you are asked to increase the rate until eventually the tax becomes an additional levy rather than a replacement."

F. H. Chappelle, Lincoln, representing several railroad brotherhoods, said the tax would be a "pay as you eat" tax for laborers, and along with other labor representatives, stated a preference for the income tax bill over the other measure if that one be passed.

Many of the opponents stressed the fact that they would not be opposed to one of the new taxing methods if some definite assurance were given that property tax would be lowered. One witness suggested the placing of a definite limit on property tax, and another suggested doing away with it all together, along with the imposition of a new tax.

Farmers and farm representatives appearing at the hearing were about evenly divided between proponents and opponents. Sen. Charles Tvrdik, Omaha, chairman of the committee, read a letter stating that the Farmers Union was opposed to either of the measures, while Charles Marshall, president of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation, appeared in favor of either one or both of the bills.

At the end of the hearing with time for argument divided evenly between the two sides of the question, the score stood 15 witnesses in favor of one or both of the bills, and 14 opposed to either of the bills.

Child Safety To Be Keynote Clinic For Mothers-Teachers

Health and safety of children will be the theme of a clinic to be sponsored by the Lincoln-Lancaster Safety council for mothers and teachers April 15 and 16 at Miller and Paine's auditorium.

The clinic is intended to explain the child safety problem, to tell what efforts are being expended in the field and to determine future efforts.

Topics to be discussed will include mental hygiene and physical health related to safety, safety in and around the home and safety education in the schools. Moving pictures and slides will be shown on the subject.

The council issued the reminder that among children over one year, in the United States, accidents are the leading cause of death.

No Shame In Commercial Agriculture

Farm Bureau Head Tells Rural Meeting

The Midwest Conference of Rural Life and Education has been advised not to be ashamed of commercial agriculture.

The conference, being attended by persons from eight states, got that advice last night from Alan B. Kline, president of the American Farm Bureau. He also told the 350 persons who atended the second session not to be satisfied with a second rate rural community.

Opposes Production Ceiling.

Kline said he favored a floor on farm prices, but was against a ceiling on farm production.

"Get yourself a ceiling over agricultural production, and what you do is invite good men to do something else," he said.

Altogether, an estimated 1,000 persons are attending the meeting which runs through Saturday. At the first session Thursday, they heard Dr. M. L. Cushman, associate professor of rural life education at Iowa State college.

Dr. Cushman said the conference is being held to bring together lay and professional leaders "to solve mutual problems in order that adequate educational opportunity can be a reality for farm and village boys and girls."

Another speaker, Carl C. Taylor, head of the U. S. Department of Agriculture farm population and rural life division at Washington, said one of the greatest problems in the development of a sound educational program is a shift in attitudes away from mutual aid and neighborliness, and a greater faith in mechanized and rationalized techniques.

Twenty-two Carl Raymond Gray Union Pacific scholarships have been awarded to F.F.A. boys and vocational homemaking girls who are enrolled in high school vocational educational courses, L. D Clements, state supervisor of vocational agriculture, and Rose Wanek, supervisor of vocational homemaking, announced Friday.

Scholarship winners are selected on the basis of the supervised farming or homemaking program, scholarship and leadership activities. They will enroll in the University of Nebraska college of agriculture.

Col. Frank D. Eager
ONE OF LINCOLN'S MOST CONSERVATIVE AND PUBLIC SPIRITED CITIZENS
WILL VOTE
☒ FOR CITY CHARTER AMENDMENT

STREETS MUST BE REPAIRED TO AVOID DANGER TO LIVES AND PROPERTY.

Colonel Eager gave his reasons in a broadcast over K.F.O.R. on March 28th, 1949, and said, "The taxpayer is confronted with this problem:—The paving must be repaired. It must not be put off, or delayed. It would be a disgrace to the city to leave the paving as it is. It is disagreeable, dangerous, and hazardous to continue to use the paving in its present condition.

The only way to get the paving repaired is to adopt the plan the present city officials are submitting to the Voters of Lincoln. To do this, it is necessary to vote "FOR" the City Charter Amendment."

In conclusion he added: "I shall vote 'FOR' the Charter Amendment and I hope, For the Good of the City, that the majority of the Lincoln people will Vote For It."

THIS PROGRAM HAS THE APPROVAL OF THE CITIZENS COMMITTEE OF 85 MEMBERS.

Seven Recreation Areas Would Benefit

$12,000 Would Improve City Facilities

IF FUNDS HIKED

(This is the fifth in a series of six articles by The Lincoln Star explaining in detail how funds proposed by the city charter amendment will be spent if the change is approved by Lincoln voters on April 5. The final article of the series will appear on Monday, April 4.)

BY DALE HOAGLAN.
(City Hall Reporter)

Seven areas throughout Lincoln would benefit the first year from the recreation department's $12,000 of the city's added funds.

Improvements in Pentzer, University Place, Bethany, F street and College View parks, in the Havelock Family area and in College View school playground are top priority projects.

Councilman Tom Pansing, chairman of the recreation board, says 80 per cent of the department's first year increase would go into improvements. The remaining 20 per cent into program, supervision of playgrounds and other department activities.

No Standstill.

Improvements are not at a standstill because of the department's fund shortage this year. Eight school playgrounds will get jungle jims, horizontal bars, baseball and basketball backstops this spring from a $4,000 appropriation of the school board. The department has $1,000 for improvements the rest of this fiscal year.

The recreation department is the only city department with a plan so specific it knows what to do for the next several years, Pansing say. Two National Recreation association representatives studied Lincoln under a grant from the Cooper Foundation and recommended what improvements to make and what fields to enter.

The department's needs as Pansing sets them forth increase $5,000 yearly from the second year's $20,000 increase over present operations.

Other top priority projects benefiting from these added funds would be Ballard Field and school site, Whittier, Capitol, Randolph and Prescott school playgrounds. Secondary projects in the department's plan are Belmont park and school playground, Oak Creek park, Bethany playground, the Rodgers tract, Memorial Drive playground and Hayward, Huntington and Saratoga school playgrounds.

27 Cents A Year.

What happens if the city doesn't get the increased funds?

"As a councilman," Pansing says, "I can see that we would have to give a larger percentage of the city's money to the basic functions of government: fire, police and paving repair. This would mean no recreation improvements next year and we would have to cut into our program and supervision. Parks and recreation would necessarily suffer."

Recreation is one reason government costs have increased since 1930, Pansing says. Tax monies used for recreation have increased in direct proportion to the community's awareness of the role of environment in juvenile delinquency.

Pansing told the committee of 85 that Lincoln spends 27 cents a year for each person in the city for recreation purposes, while the national average is 85 cents per capita. He said then that "we can cut out all recreation if you say so and return to a government of 1880 not 1950."

Pansing will get his answer Tuesday.

Gas Firm Seeks Capacity Boost

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Northern Natural Gas Co., of Omaha, has asked authorization to increase the capacity of its system north of Kansas by 60,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

In making that request of the federal power commission yesterday, Northern said cost of the work would amount to an estimated $27,800,000.

The company plans to build 327 miles of pipeline in Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa, a dehydration plant at Garden City, Kas., and to install 10 compressor units with a total horsepower of 16,000.

Increasing Demands.

Northern Natural's system now has a capacity of 425,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily north of Kansas. Facilities recently authorized by the commission will increase this to 470,000,000 late this year.

The company asked the commission to authorize the further increase, to 530,000,000 cubic feet, to meet the increasing demands of the 1950-51 heating season.

Northern Natural moves gas from the Panhandle field in Texas and the Hugoton field in Kansas to markets in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota.

Meanwhile the securities and exchange commission today gave Northern Natural authority to sell 406,000 shares of its $10 par common stock to finance new construction and replenish its working capital.

Extension Clubs To Aid England Cloth Shortage

The Lancaster county home extension council met Wednesday afternoon in the office of Home Extension Agent Frances Runty to discuss plans for the county's 42 extension clubs for the next year.

The group decided to ask each club to make a drive for print feed sacks and small sewing equipment during national "Home Demonstration Week," May 1 to 8. Each club will collect the items, which will then be sent on to help alleviate the shortage of cloth and other materials in England.

Mrs. E. J. Thompson, Raymond, chairman of the health committee, reported on the progress of club members in the tuberculosis X-ray program. Each home extension club is scheduled for one Monday evening at the city-county health department for chest X-rays for their community.

Mrs. George Burgess, Lincoln, chairman, reported for the reports and evaluation committee that 10 of the clubs in the county had met every goal set up for 1948. She also reported on the selection of Mrs. Gordon Lintt of Bennet, as the homemaker who will represent the county at the state honors dinner in Omaha May 5.

Mrs. Owen Perry, Malcolm, county chairman, presided at the meeting.

Gas Tax Hike Opposition Is Protested

... By Greenamyre

H. G. Greenamyre, executive secretary of the Better Nebraska association, in a letter to the members of the state legislature Thursday, sought to answer arguments that the state highway department does not need additional funds for highway repair and maintenance.

In a statement attached to the letter, Greenamyre presented figures showing that the income of the department of roads and irrigation from Jan. 1, 1941 to Dec. 31, 1948 amounted to $83,500,722, while costs during the same period totaled $83,191,271.

According to his figures, during 1948 the costs of the department exceeded income by $2,592,689, and during 1947 costs amounted to $2,246,767 more than income. In all the other years included in the period, with the exception of 1943, income was slightly higher than costs.

Contracts Still To Be Paid.

According to Greenamyre, the cash balance of the department at the end of 1948 amounted to $298,217. He said $1,793,414 worth of contracts is to be paid from the 1949 state income of the department.

In the letter Greenamyre said, "There is now pending and will shortly be heard before the revenue committee of the legislature, LB 399, to increase gas tax one cent, LB 401 to increase motor vehicle registration fees, and LB 492, to increase equalization fees on non-gas burning vehicles."

"No Question."

"The Farm Federation and others have said or inferred, that there are, or should be, funds to the credit of the highway department with which to repair and construct roads, by reason of which it is not necessary to increase the gas tax and registration fees for road and highway purposes."

The letter concluded, "That there may be no further question as to the income, for what it was spent and the balance on hand; let's be guided by the facts which are handed you herewith."

James Wolfe, the conqueror of Quebec, was made a brigadier-general in the British army at 31. A year later, when he was killed in battle, he was a major-general.

Nebraska Art Association Makes Annual Purchase For Permanent Collection

Of paramount interest to the members of the Nebraska Art association and also to the devotees of art in the city, is the annual selection of a picture to be purchased for the association's permanent collection. This year the association has chosen Karl Zerbe's "Max Beckmann," an encaustic painting.

Karl Zerbe was born in Germany in 1903 and came to America in 1934, a refugee from the nazi atmosphere of regimentation. For most of his paintings he uses the long-neglected encaustic medium which is a mixture of wax and resin with a hot iron. This "Portrait of Max Beckmann" is an example of this method. He is now head of the department of drawing and painting at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. A large and influential group of young artists, working in various forms of expressionism, has grown up in Boston due to Zerbe's leadership.

"The Magnificent Fish," another Zerbe encaustic, was purchased by the University of Nebraska Hall collection in 1945.

The subject of this portrait by Zerbe is an artist in his own right. Max Beckmann was born in Leipzig in 1884 and was trained at the Weimar academy. He served in the Germany army during World war I and in 1917 went to live and teach in Frankfort. In 1937, Beckmann, already hounded by the nazi authorities, went to live in Holland. In 1947 he came to this country to teach at Washington university in St. Louis. Now an American citizen, he is said to bring to his painting a textual excitement fairly uncommon in modern art as a whole. Though he works now largely in oil, his favorite medium is drypoint, and his work brings out the disillusions and amoralities of Germany in the 1920's. Without a doubt, he is one of the most influential leaders of expressionism today, as is seen in the strong trend in American art to day. A big retrospective show of Beckmann's work is touring the larger art museums this year.

Week-End—

Busy And Interesting

A LONG COMES A WEEK-END that is filled with activity—Strictly social, of course, is the wedding of Miss JoAnn Guenzel and Donald Pegler, jr., on Saturday evening at the Church of the Holy Trinity, Episcopal—and the prenuptial dinner this evening for which the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Guenzel will be host and hostess at Hotel Cornhusker.

THE REMAINDER OF the news for the Friday-to-Monday period, is interesting but unspectacular—However, one of the events—a tea on Sunday, has special significance because it involves the eightieth anniversary of the First Presbyterian church.

Honored at the tea, to be held in Fellowship hall between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock, will be twenty-six members of the First Presbyterian congregation, who have been affiliated with the church for fifty years. The honorees will stand in the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. C. Vin White, to greet all friends of the church.

Spring flowers will appoint the tea table, and flowers will be arranged throughout the rooms.

In charge of the tea arrangements is a committee composed of Dr. G. W. Rosenlof, Ray Ramsay, Hal C. Mardis and Mrs. S. J. Fieselman.

IF YOU HEAR "Vi-o-lets, violets, you're the sweetest flower to me," being sung lustily Saturday evening in the vicinity of Thirteenth and M streets, it will only be the actives and alumnae of Sigma Alpha Epsilon joining vocal forces at the Sig Alph banquet. The banquet, so some of the brothers tell us, will follow the afternoon initiation, also at Hotel Cornhusker.

The guest speaker at the banquet, to be attended by two hundred and fifty members of the fraternity, will be Dr. Chester D. Lee of Iowa State college at Ames—and the toastmaster will be Lauer Ward.

MRS. JAMES JOHNSTON.

Marriage Solemnized At Church

LARGE baskets filled with white gladioli, and white candles burning in branched candelabra, decorated the altar of the First Christian church for the marriage of Miss Sebeta Jean Wurtele, daughter of Mrs. Viola O. Wurtele, to James Richard Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Johnston of St. Joseph, Mo., Saturday afternoon, March 26. The lines of the double ring service were read by the Rev. Lowell C. Bryant.

As the altar candles were lighted by Miss Adeline Boles, frocked in pastel blue satin, Hank Duling sang "At Dawning," and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by the church organist, who also played the wedding music. During the processional, "I Love You Truly," was sung by the bridegroom.

The maid of honor was Miss Delores Marie Wurtele, sister or the bride, who wore a colonial gown of lilac taffeta with matching taffeta mitts. Her nosegay bouquet was fashioned of white carnations and lavendar sweetpeas. Wearing identical gowns of satin designed with full hooped skirts were the bridesmaids, Miss Mary Gekes and Mrs. Robert Kapke, in pink, and Miss Mary Joe Andelt and Mrs. Ernest Wilson, in blue. Miss Gekes and Mrs. Kapke carried bouquets of pink carnations, and Miss Andelt and Mrs. Wilson carried blue-tinted carnations. The attendants completed their costumes with half hats of tulle to match their frocks.

Wearing floor length gowns of pale yellow satin and carrying baskets of pink roses and yellow blossoms were the flower girls, Miss Lucretta Ann Wurtele, sister of the bride, and Miss Beatrice Stroman.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, George C. Wurtele of Nebraska City, and wore for her wedding a gown of white slipper satin. Seed pearls and sequins trimmed the deep squared collar of the fitted bodice, and long sleeves were pointed over the hands. The full, paniered skirt ended in a long train, and her finger tip veil of illusion, edged with lace, was held by a tiara of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and white satin ribbon.

Harold Merritt served Mr. Johnston as best man, and the ushers were Bill Clam, Bob Kapke, Ernest Wilson, Phil Pegg, Raphael Toman and Michael Kainer.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the Persian room of the Hotel Cornhusker. Included among those assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dickinson, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ruhl, Mrs. Michael Kainer, Miss Beverly Fritz, Alfred Wolfe, Walter Wolfe, Lester Robbins, Mrs. Beulah Andelt, Miss Ethel Abbott and Miss Beverly Andelt.

The couple will make their home in Lincoln where the bridegroom is attending the University of Nebraska.

Swoose At End Of Line

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Swoose, famous war-scarred B-17 Flying Fortress which saw action from Pearl Harbor to V-J day, swooped to lits landing yesterday.

The Swoose, with her original crew of five aboard, was flown to Douglas airport to take its place in the Chicago branch of the Smithsonian institution's national air museum.

"This is the end of the line," said Col. Frank Kurtz, original combat pilot of The Swoose. The craft was officially turned over to Walter M. Male, assistant curator of the Smithsonian institution, by Kurtz, who said: "It's now your baby."

The venerable bomber will be placed in a guarded hangar along with other famous aerial exhibits of the last war until the Smithsonian air museum in Washington is built. Male said it probably will be hangared at Douglas airport for five years.

One man's Opinion

by WALTER KIERNAN

(Distributed by International News Serv.)

The owner of a Paris walkup who took the stairs out during the night seems like a nice fellow . . . hated to see a tenant leave the house.

KIERNAN

Eight families said he was trying to turn them out but it seems obvious he was trying to keep them in.

The landlord said he took the stairs away to have them repaired . . . wanted everything in nice condition for the tenants he hasn't had an increase out of in eight years.

Rents were frozen in France in 1941 and this boy evidently is beginning to get illegally chilly . . . not that any of our landlords are getting warmer.

Rent control in the U. S. has brought on some sparkling debates . . . Some tenants think controls should be permanent and others think controls should be temporary. Like rigor mortis.

Traffic Group Urges Defeat Of Parallel Parking Repeal

The City Traffic Commission, through its officers, Fred N. Wells, chairman, Clarence Hinds, secretary, and H. C. Mardis, publicity and education chairman, Friday issued a statement urging Lincoln residents to vote against the proposed "parallel parking" amendment at the April primary election.

The commission listed the following reasons in support of its stand against passage of the amendment, which would repeal parallel parking:

1. It would result in a net loss of parking space.
2. It would interfere with movement of traffic.
3. It would mean a loss of federal funds.
4. It would increase accidents.
5. It would work against a reduction in insurance rates.

Both Types Necessary.

The commission further states that it is not opposed to either parallel or diagonal parking but "firmly believes that in a city the size of Lincoln both types of parking are necessary."

The statement also set forth the following points in further urging defeat of repeal at the polls:

"Only 17 per cent parallel parking has been added in the congested area at the recommendation of the City Traffic Commission. In this area there are 166 linear blocks of possible parking. Only 17 per cent of this space has been marked for parallel parking by the police department at the suggestion of the commission in an effort to reduce accident records and help traffic movement."

"Introducers of the petition would eliminate all parking in the wholesale district on Eighth street between M and Q, where approximately 100 cars are now parked daily and from the center of Seventh street in front of the Burlington depot where 42 cars can be accommodated."

The commission points out that these changes in the wholesale district are asked because "it is a physical impossibility to park cars in these areas at an angle in conformity with provisions of the proposed ordinance."

Net Loss of Stalls.

"Adoption of the ordinance would result in a net loss of parking stalls. There are now 1,886 stalls in the congested area and by changing to diagonal parking there would be a net gain of 135 stalls in the retail district, or 7 per cent of the total, an insignificant number compared with the problems involved."

The statement claims this would result in a loss of 142 stalls in the wholesale district due to wording of the ordinance.

The commission states that federal aid for improvement of streets in the downtown area would be lost because of "high standards for traffic movement set up by the public roads administration" which require parallel parking on all city streets where aid is expected on a matched dollar basis."

According to the statement parallel parking was instituted on Q street to relieve the heavy flow of traffic on R street at the request of the university student council and administration. It points out that "because of its narrow width Q street could not remain an arterial with diagonal parking, unless all parking were removed from the street."

Heaviest Traffic On Thirteenth.

"The heaviest traffic in Lincoln, over 22,000 cars a day, moves north and south on Thirteenth street. A return to diagonal parking would clutter up the street and hinder the flow of traffic."

In regard to insurance rates the commission claims that car owners in Lincoln are paying rates "54 per cent higher than in Des Moines, 75 per cent higher than in Denver, 25 per cent more than Wichita and 91 per cent more than in Grand Island, Beatrice, Fremont and Hastings, for the same coverage" because of the city's accident record.

Reduction In Accidents

"Since the introduction of parallel parking on three congested streets in the business area there has been a reduction in accidents of 52, 42 and 58 per cent respectively" and cites that an Omaha report showed 46 per cent of all accidents in a downtown area were credited to angle parking.

Continuing the statement says: "Although frequently referred to as the 'parallel parking ordinance,' if passed the ordinance would fix on the business district diagonal parking only for an indefinite period of time, regardless of city growth and need for up-to-date methods of handling traffic.

"An initiative ordinance is difficult to change. Under the state charter it cannot be changed or altered within one year. In the last 20 years only three ordinances have been placed on the statutes by voters, and one of them remained for some seven or eight years before being repealed by the city council, even though its purpose had long since been outmoded.

"From a traffic engineering standpoint, in a city the size of Lincoln, both parallel and diagonal parking are necessary. The exact combination should be a matter of administration by the traffic department of the city.

"Every city in the country has been trying to solve its parking problem. All authorities come to one conclusion. It can never be done by adding a handful of places at the curb. We now have 2,380 off-street parking places for vehicles, a much larger number than can be parked at the curbs, and this number is being steadily increased with the addition of new lots. The commission recommended more than a year ago the immediate acquisition by the city of off-parking parking sites. 'This is the only answer'."

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Nebraska Relay Threat

STAR TEXAS SPRINTERS SIDELINED BY INJURIES; HUNT'S MARK MAY FALL

AUSTIN, Tex.—(AP)—The Texas relays open Friday with the bulk of 1,181 entries from 113 schools participating in preliminaries and finals of more than 20 events.

It is the biggest first day program in the 28-year history of the track and field carnival.

Few relay records appear in danger and none of the sprint and hurdles marks are likely to fall but some new standards are expected in the field events.

The pole vault record of 14 feet ¾ inch set by Harold Hunt of Nebraska six years ago is in danger before the soaring of such stars as Bob Smith San Diego State, Bill Carroll, Oklahoma; Leonard Kehl of Nebraska, and George Rasmussen of Oregon. Smith and Carroll already have bettered 14 feet this season.

Rollin Prather

A previously unpublicized pulled muscle by Charley Parker, Texas' fleet sprinter, may keep him from defending his 100-yard dash title.

This could wreck the Longhorns' famed sprint relay team.

Parker is one of three Texas relaymen to injure leg muscles on an uneven track at the Southwestern Recreation Meet in Fort Worth two weeks ago.

Perry Samuels is the only sound man on the team.

Texas has won the 440-yard relay 10 times during the last 14 years and Coach Clyde Littlefield had hopes of erasing the relays record of :41.4.

With Texas crippled, the Nebraska team appears to be the leading choice in the 440 and 880-yard events.

Nebraska's Harry Meginnis, Alan Thompson and Dick Hutton are expected to give Paul Biez of Tulane his toughest competition in the 100 if Parker misses the meet.

The late entry of George Rasmussen, University of Oregon vaulter who tied for first in the 1948 NCAA meet, rounds out the best field of vaulters ever to appear at the Relays.

The high jump record of 6 feet 7 inches might well fall before Jack Heintzman defending champion from Bradley U.

The shotput has Rollin Prather of Kansas State, a threat to the Relays mark in the college division. The record is 52 feet ¾ inch, made by Elmer Hackney of Kansas State in 1939.

Final events in two field events will be held this afternoon—the broad jump and javelin throw,

Links Open Season

Lincoln high opened its track and field season this afternoon with a dual meet against Beatrice at the LHS oval. The Links have four lettermen back from the squad that scored a top-heavy win over Beatrice last year.

Stars Win AAU Titles

. . . In Swimming

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—(AP)—A big field set out again Friday in an effort to beat out Olympic champions for national AAU men's indoor swimming crowns.

Thursday, four of Uncle Sam's Olympic winners came through to national crowns. Joe Verdeur of breast stroke fame led the way with a win in the 300-yard individual medley at record breaking time.

Verdeur, representing Brighton Hotel Swim club of Atlantic City, swam the event—made up of 100 yards breast stroke, 100 yards backstroke and 100 yards free style—in 3 minutes, 22.9 seconds. It was one second better than the mark Adolph Kiefer set in 1944.

Bruce Harlan of Ohio State added the one meter diving crown to his Olympic laurels. He succeeded former teammate Miller Anderson as national AAU champ and easily outdistanced the field.

Allen Stack of New Haven, Conn., Swim club was an easy and expected winner in the 150-yard backstroke at the time of one minute, 30.7 seconds. James Thomas of North Carolina was second to both Verdeur and Stack.

Wally Ris of Iowa copped the 100-yard free style with a strong finishing kick. He did it in 51.4 seconds—good time—but was only three-tenths of a second in front of runner-up Bob Gibe of Detroit Athletic club.

The three-day meet concludes Saturday with the 440-yard free style, 300-yard medley relay and three meter diving.

HANDSOME ATTRACTION — Lincoln's wrestling promoter Adam Krieger announced today that Ed Virag, (above) handsome heavyweight grappler from Wichita, Kas., has been added to Monday's wrestle royal attraction at the fair grounds. Also added today were the "Golden Terror" and Jack Kennedy, Dallas, Tex.

Previously this week Martin "The Blimp" Levy, Joe Dusek and Dan Plechas had agreed to enter in the rough and tumble, dog-eat-dog proceeding. All six will enter the ring at the same time and wrestle anyone they want, to. The first two eliminated will vie in the preliminary event, the next two in the semi-windup and the two who are left standing will meet in the main event which is to be a two-falls-out-of-three affair.

It is possible that the five known wrestlers may gang up on the "Golden Terror" to learn his identity.

The total weight of the six wrestlers will be 1,796 pounds and with addition of Referee Jerry Adam at 225 pounds, their weight will be over a ton of humanity in the ring at the same time. Promoter Krieger has a carpenter at work reinforcing the ring.

Hogan Leaves Hospital Bed

EL PASO—(AP)—Plucky little Ben Hogan was on a train Friday headin' for home.

He'll be back on the links again some day, he says.

The national golf pace setter until an automobile accident last Feb. 2 laid him low, Hogan walked the length of a pullman car Thursday night when he boarded the train here.

He posed for photographers and beamed at the prospect of returning to the Newhogan residence in Fort Worth. He is due to arrive late this afternoon.

The wan but smiling Hogan was accompanied by his wife, Valerie; his brother, Royal, and by Dr. Howard Dittos, Fort Worth physician who came here to make the trip.

Thursday night he said he is definitely "out of the rough and again headed down the fairway."

At least once, his life was feared for when blood clots developed from his injuries. He suffered multiple fractures when his automobile and a bus crashed near Van Horn, Tex. His wife suffered minor injuries.

Hogan's home is at Fort Worth but he plays out of Hershey, Pa. He was 1948 National Open and National PGA champion and leading money winner of the year. He was leading the cash parade this year until the accident. He has been a top player for 10 years.

Waverly Fetes Class C Kings

Four hundred Waverly basketball fans gathered Thursday night at Cotner Terrace for the annual athletic banquet honoring the Class C champion basketball team and the girls volleyball team.

Other speakers were Supt. Harry S. Hegstrom, G. A. Spidel, school board president; Lieut. Gov. Charles Warner and Lyal Bremser, radio announcer. Among guests was George Miller of The Lincoln Star.

Armstrong President Of Blue Valley Loop

SEWARD, Neb.—(AP)—Don Armstrong of Garland, Neb., was named president of the Blue Valley Baseball league at an organizational meeting here Thursday night.

It was announced that the season would open Sunday, May 8, with at least seven and possibly eight teams in competition. Bradshaw is considering entering the league, officers said. Otner teams are Gresham, Beaver Crossing, Utica, Pleasantdale, Malcolm, Staplehurst and Garland.

Miller Says Ball Play Near End

Switches From Short To Second For Phils

BY JACK HAND.

CLEARWATER, Fla.—(AP)—For a man labeled "hard to get along with" over a 12-year span, Eddie Miller is a revelation with the Phillies.

The 32-year-old veteran who has bounced around the National league since 1936 is trying a new job—at his own suggestion. After 1,361 games as a big league shortstop, Miller has switched to second base.

"I saw the kid (Granville Hamner) playing such good ball," said Miller, "he has a great arm and hits the ball good. And . . . he's young. I knew he was the shortstop. I expected it.

EVERYTHING ASKED.

"I always said when the time comes that you can't make it any more, there's no sense in bawling about it. Just get out of the way. But I want to stay with this club. I figured if they're going to keep me, I'll have a better chance if I can play three positions instead of just one. So I've been working around third and second.

So far Miller has done about everything asked of him. He won't cover as much ground as some second basemen but he'll handle cleanly everything he can reach. He was that kind of a shortstop.

For the last few years, Miller has had arm trouble. Hitters have been able to beat out balls hit to deep short against him. It may be that his arm is better suited for the short snap throws from second base.

HOLDOUT FIRST.

Eddie talks frankly about the "hard to get along with" label. It used to bother him but now he's resigned to it.

"Once you get a reputation like that, it sticks to you like glue," he said. "I was a holdout my first year at Boston. I guess I got the rep then and I never was able to shake it off.

"Last time I opened my mouth I wound up being traded off the ball club."

Miller referred to the Hamilton, Ohio, incident of the 1947-48 winter. Some remarks he made in a question-and-answer period at a men's club dinner, were construed as criticism of Johnny Neun, then his manager at Cincinnati.

This same Miller "retired" from baseball after the 1946 season. He said his arm was so bad that he didn't feel like playing any more. He finally came out of "retirement" to play 151 games for the Reds. Then came the speech at Hamilton.

Don Lee vs. Ray Robinson In Omaha Go

OMAHA—(INS)—Matchmaker Max Clayton announced Thursday Ray "Sugar" Robinson, world's welterweight champion, has been signed to meet Don Lee, Edison, Neb., middleweight, in a 10-round non-title bout in Omaha, April 11.

Lee was the last fighter to beat Vince Foster. Lee won by a TKO in an Omaha bout last September.

Lee quit the ring after losing bouts earlier this year to J. T. Ross and Walter Cartier and announced he would become a fight promoter in Iowa. However, he said Thursday he was "happy to ditch his retirement plans" for a chance at Robinson.

Robinson won the world's title in 1946 from Tommy Bell. He defended his crown last year by whipping Bernard Docusen.

Bill Glassford Slated For Scottsbluff Date

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb.—(AP)—Bill Glassford, University of Nebraska football coach, will be the principal speaker at an athletic dinner to be held here April 22.

The Scottsbluff Quarterback club is sponsoring the affair, Harvey Sams, president, said.

Miggins Farmed Out

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(AP)—Larry Miggins, 23-year-old outfielder who played with Omaha in the Western league last year, will be sent to the Rochester farm club of the St. Louis Cardinals. The Cards announced Miggins' transfer to the International league club Thursday.

The Cubs had the help of Roy Smalley's eighth home run of the spring season in the fourth inning to give them a lead they did not relinquish. Catcher Bob Scheffing was on base at the time.

BY BOB BERKSHIRE

(Substituting for Norris Anderson who is in Moultrie, Ga., with the Lincoln Athletics.)

THE UNIVERSITY of Nebraska sprint relay team's chances of annexing the 440 and 880-yard relays at the Texas relays received a boost with the report that Charlie Parker and John Robertson, top two sprinters on Texas U.'s team, may be out with injuries . . . Parker and Robertson have paced the Texas combination to 29 straight wins in the 440 and 880-yard relay events . . . The Huskers appear to be the team to snap Texas' sprint relay supremacy . . . The Nebraska foursome appears to be faster and in better condition than the Husker team that finished second to Texas at last year's Drake relays . . . Fritz Ware, a top sprinter on Weir's 1946 cinder squad, is rounding into shape and has replaced Don Vollertsen, who was the fourth man on last year's team . . . Leonard Kehl, Big Seven indoor pole-vault record-holder, will be using a borrowed pole at the Texas event. Both Mentor Weir and Kehl intended to take a pole on the plane with the team, but too late they found that the airlines don't handle pole-vault poles as part of a person's luggage.

Bob Pierce

COACH JOHN JACOB'S Oklahoma Sooners are known as the track team without a track. Kicked out of their old outdoor home at Owen's field to make room for a bigger seating capacity for football games. The Sooner trackmen are awaiting the completion in May of a $50,000 running track built away from the football field . . . Meanwhile, Coach Jacobs has been drilling his charges wherever he can. For a while the Sooners worked on the edge of the intramural softball field, but a track man innocently picked up a rolling ball during a red-hot game and pegged the runner out at second base. The indignant softballers nearly mobbed him and Jacobs moved the track team to the east boundary of the university golf course. At this site the trackmen ran into a hive of bees, which to Jacob's pleasure abnormally accelerated their running pace . . . Apparently Missouri is having spring training troubles, too. Reports are that chaos reigns as the football, track and baseball teams attempt to use the crowded Tiger fieldhouse simultaneously. Of course things aren't so bad now, because until two weeks ago the basketball team was using the fieldhouse too . . . These reports make Husker athletes appreciate their indoor facilities at the coliseum and under the east stadium more. Conditions at Nebraska will be even better next year when the indoor football practice field will be usable as part of the enlarged fieldhouse . . . The indoor track at Kansas City will be put up and overhauled this summer. The indoor track is one of the best in the country and auditorium officials don't want to see it lapse into disrepair.

DICK SCHLEIGER, Husker cager and quarterback candidate, is not completely inexperienced as far as football is concerned. Although passing up university play, Dick was the standout on Omaha North's grid team for two seasons, 1943-'44. He was a standout pass receiver and punter . . . Bob "Shorty" Pierce, another Husker cager, holds the Missouri Valley high school conference football throw record . . . The football throw event was discontinued the year after he cracked the record. Shorty also threw the discus for Lincoln high's track team.

Last Chance For Knights

OMAHA—(INS)—The Omaha Knights meet the St. Paul Saints tonight in the second game of their U. S. Hockey league playoffs.

The Saints drubbed the Knights, 8-0, at St. Paul Sunday and need only one more victory to qualify to meet Tulsa in a best five-of-seven series. However, if Omaha wins tonight to even things up, the final and deciding game will be played at St. Paul Sunday night.

Coach Mud Bruneteau put his squad through a final practice session at the coliseum Thursday afternoon—minus Blinky Boyce who will miss the game because of a chipped shoulder bone.

Kasmarek Turns Out

. . . For Passing Spot

Add another newcomer to the collection of quarterback prospects on the University of Nebraska football squad.

Coach Bill Glassford Thursday had his second roster addition since he began an intensive search for a passer who would meet specifications.

Bob Kasmarek, 5-9 170 pounder from Janesville, Wis., asked for a tryout and was given a suit. Kasmarek, a junior, earned all-star honors on the Beta Theta Pi intramural squad last fall.

He formerly attended Notre Dame.

GET IN SHAPE

Kasmarek will join Dick Schleiger, basketball letterman, in preparing for contact work. As soon as the pair are in shape, they will be given a chance to do their bit against live competition.

Passing continued to draw most of the attention from the Husker grid chief. Thursday's workout included pass offense and defense patterns. Glassford told of slow but steady improvement in the overhead maneuvers.

GRID LESSONS

He said he was confident that when players become more familiar with their assignments most of the trouble will disappear.

Along with passing, the spring drilling Scarlet athletes had a session on fundamentals, with emphasis on starting, blocking and pulling out of the line for downfield blocking.

A-Bomb Speech By 'Loof Lirpa' Is Cancelled

Dr. A. T. O. "Loof Lirpa" Magdeburg, internationally known physicist, lecturer and war time technical advisor to the armed forces, was unable to make a scheduled address to the Kiwanis club Friday noon on an eye witness account of the atomic bomb experiments at Bikini, due to pressing business in Washington.

Cancellation of the speech was attributed by members of the club to President Truman's tight lipped attitude in regard to press releases since completion of the test conducted by the war and navy departments.

None of the Kiwanians, including Glenn E. Turner, county superintendent, who was program chairman, could locate the speaker.

However, Turner did suggest that "Loof Lirpa" should be read backward.

Inspector Masters Completes 22nd Year On Police Force

INSPECTOR 'GENE' MASTERS

Completing his twenty-second year on the Lincoln police force Friday, Inspector Eugene Masters, in a reminiscent mood, recalled his first day of duty on April 1, 1927.

"They just hung a badge on me and stuck a gun in my hand—I became a policeman," he told reporters.

Commenting on the changes the department has undergone since he joined the force, Inspector Masters said the mode of communication now in existence has been the biggest change.

He told of the growth of the department from 36 members in 1927 to 105 today.

Masters spent the first two years on the force in uniform and in 1929 was promoted to detective. In 1935, Masters became lieutenant of detectives and in 1946 captain of detectives. His present position as inspector of police was attained in 1947.

$2,792 Bequest Presbyterian Church Board

. . . Court Rules

The state Supreme court held Friday that a $2,792 bequest from the estate of the late Mary Bower Harrington of Pawnee City should go to the board of national missions of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

The original intent of the will was that the bequest should go to the Presbyterian Theological seminary at Omaha, but the siminary closed its doors in 1943, three years before Mrs. Harrington's death.

The seminary still exists as a corporate entity, but since it is not in operaiton, under the terms of the will, the court held the bequest should go to the mission board.

Gold Stocks Given Boost

NEW YORK—(AP)—Sharp gains for several gold stocks in the last few minutes of trading gave a touch of life to a slow-moving market today.

Losses of fractions to around a point prevailed for the general run of issues.

Selected golds, on the other hand, hit new highs for the year.

The volume of trading dropped back to the modest levels which have prevailed for so long. The margin reduction stimulated business on Tuesday and Wednesday to close to 2,000,000 shares each and yesterday to nearly 1,000,000. Today's business was at the rate of around 850,000 shares.
